'PLASTIC SATELLITE' TO BE FIRED TONIGHT

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first attempt to put an inflated plastic satellite into orbit will be made tonight, the U.S. Army announced today.

Maj.-Gen. John B. Medaris said the sphere will be hurled into the air late tonight from Cape Canaveral, Fla. He gave no further details.

The inflated aluminum foil and plastic film balloon-like satellite will be sent aloft in a modified Jupiter-C rocket. It will be inflated automatically with nitrogen when hundreds of miles above the earth.

U.S. WRITER'S VIEW ON CHINA

Ironmongers In Backyards

This is the fifth of a series of articles by NEA correspondent John Strohm on his tour of Communist China.

By JOHN STROHM

NEW YORK—Almost everywhere you go in Red China your nostrils are assailed by a sulphurous smoke that reminds you of Gary or East Chicago.

Red China is out to make the "great leap forward" in steel production by twin programs, one old, one new.

In farmyards, on school playgrounds, college campuses and vacant lots, the belching vest-pocket blast furnaces of the old way polka-dot the landscape with smears of smoke. And those who stoke them with hand-crushed ore, coal and limestone are the farmer and his wife, the school children and college kids.

Thus did America produce pig iron in the mid-1800s on myriad "plantations" close to the land (for ore) and the forest (for charcoal).

They are not new to China but the program has exploded in size.

I must have seen more than 1,000 of these furnaces during my tour of Mao's domain. They range from three feet to 30 feet high, their output from 100 pounds to 100 tons daily.

Red China's economists reasoned thusly: to save transport, take the furnace to the raw materials and only move the pig iron to the factory. The iron pigs are fed to the great new rolling mills like those I saw at Hankow and Anchan.

But Red China is by no means betting on its backyard ironmongers. At Anchan I visited a sprawling mill where 100,000 workers making an average of $32 a month turn out one-third of China's iron and steel.

They mine their own ore, get nearby coal and make pig iron, steel, iron rails, steel beams and seamless tubing.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 110,000-member B.C. Federation of Labor today voted by a ratio of 5 to 1 to demand immediate removal of J. Edwin Eades as chairman of the workmen's compensation board.

Delegates to the federation convention in Vancouver demanded his dismissal despite his plain speech Tuesday calling for an investigation of workmen's compensation.

John Squire, M.L.A. Port Alberni, led several delegates in opposing the resolution.

19-YR.-OLD BEAUTY

Marriage Mooted For Peter

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Friends of Group Capt. Peter Townsend said today Townsend may marry pretty Belgian photographer Marie-Luce Jamagne, 19-year-old daughter of a Belgian cigarette magnate.

Rumors of a romance between Marie-Luce and British Princess Margaret's former suitor flew last week when first published by the Paris weekly France-Dimanche.

In New Delhi today, members of the documentary film unit making a movie of Townsend's world tour said they thought the couple would marry in Hong Kong.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Another milestone in the development of electric power for Vancouver Island's homes and industry was passed today when officials gathered here for a ceremony to mark the energizing of the Upper Campbell Lake power unit of the Strathcona Development.

It marked the end of 12 years of construction and brought into use the water of famous Buttle Lake at the head of the storage basin.

Producing units are John Hart generating station, 168,000 horsepower; Ladore, 70,000 (eventually 105,000); Somasa, 35,000; Georgia gas generating station, 50,000 (eventually 100,000); Puntledge, 35,000.

Third and Final Step

The ceremony today ended the third and final step in the harnessing of the power of the Campbell River system. The Strathcona development alone cost $30,000,000.

Premier Bennett's action channeled to public usage the force of 27,000,000 cubic feet of water, penned up behind an earthen dam 170 feet high.

The entire power system was explored today by some 250 guests from all parts of the island. Many had travelled north from Victoria with officials representing the commission, the government and the municipalities.

Following ceremonies, they were to board cars or if weather permitted, airplanes, for a low-level tour of Buttle Lake. There was to be a celebration dinner tonight at Campbell River.

The Campbell River project began with completion of the John Hart dam development in 1947. The Ladore storage dam and power station followed 10 years later.

To date, $75,000,000 has been invested. The final project joins the Upper Campbell and Buttle Lakes into one huge reservoir. The total electrical production by the river eventually will reach 350,000 horsepower—the largest single source of B.C. Power Commission generation.

Bitter Battles Fought

The project had its share of troubles. There were bitter battles fought by conservationists who would have kept beautiful Buttle Lake untouched by industry. There was industrial strife as unions fought for jurisdiction.

There were delays brought about by washouts, power line collapse, mechanical failure and the obstinacies of nature.

The project contributed to the growth of Campbell River village, where hundreds of workmen made their homes, then threatened its economy when the work ended.

But it also attracted other industry and will attract more, not only for Campbell River, but all over the island where Power Commission transmission lines lead. (Except for the area south of a point near Duncan, the B.C.P.C. serves everyone who uses electrical power.)

Today, the development is complete. There will be additional installations to increase horsepower as new demands are made.

The commission proposes to produce another 35,000 from Kokish River and is conducting surveys of the Nimpkish, Gold and Ucona Rivers.

Hanna Ordered Out

OTTAWA (CP)—Christian George Hanna, 24-year-old stateless stowaway granted permission to live in Canada last year, has been ordered deported by the immigration department, it was announced today.

The commission proposes to produce another 35,000 from Kokish River and is conducting surveys of the Nimpkish, Gold and Ucona Rivers.

Bribe Jury To Get Case In 3 Parts

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, presiding at the Sommers bribery conspiracy trial, said today he plans to give the case to the jury in three parts.

He told counsel during a discussion of technicalities that his present plan is to give the jury the case first on the main count of conspiracy, which involves former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers, three timber executives and four companies accused.

Secondly, he said, he would ask the jury for a verdict on all of the substantive charges involving alleged donors of bribes and thirdly on all the substantive charges involving the alleged recipient—Sommers—of bribes.

Defence counsel Walter Owen, representing British Columbia Forest Products Limited and speaking for all six defence counsel, said the defence did not agree with this course.

Nor was the defence satisfied with a proposal by the judge to supply the jury with copies of the indictment, including a "working paper" on which they would record their verdicts.

NO PRECEDENT

Mr. Owen said the proposition was an innovation in Canada "with no precedent in British jurisprudence."

"We feel," he said, "that this is not the type of trial where innovations can be made without the possibility of prejudice to the accused."

Mr. Justice Wilson said he merely proposed to supply the working paper because it was obvious there would be a great number of verdicts. But he would be alarmed if he thought that in doing this he was supplying the jury with a new type of indictment.

NETTUNO, Italy (Reuters)—A British European Airways Viscount and an Italian jet fighter collided today, killing all 30 persons aboard the airliner.

The collision of the four-engined turbo-prop Viscount and the Italian air force F.86 Sabre jet took place over this little fishing port 30 miles south of Rome.

The airliner carried 25 passengers and a crew of five.

The Italian fighter pilot parachuted safely.

Both the Viscount and the jet crashed between Nettuno and the nearby port of Anzio where Allied forces landed in the Second World War.

The Viscount had taken off from London airport at 8.25 a.m. this morning on its way to Malta by way of Naples.

The collision occurred at 1 p.m. local time. It took place in bad flying weather shortly before the Viscount was due to land in Naples.

IN WIDE ARC

Wreckage of the Viscount was found in a wide arc 10 miles southeast of Anzio. One of the first persons on the scene was an Italian army chaplain, who gave absolution to the shattered bodies.

A police official at Nettuno said that after the collision "there was a terrific explosion."

"The British airliner blew up. Everyone on board must have been killed instantly. The wreckage came streaming down in a shower. The biggest piece was not more than a yard long."

"The pilot of the fighter managed to parachute out of his plane immediately and the plane went on flying for a short distance before plunging downwards."

SCATTERS WRECKAGE

The collision, four miles above the ground, scattered wreckage for more than a mile near this village.

The airliner's dead included Jane Buckingham, London model who has pictured actress Eva Bartok as trying to take over an Indian prince "who is mine."

The prince, 27-year-old Shiv of Palitana, is in Naples and Miss Buckingham, 22, presumably was en route there to try to patch things up.

THREE IN DISASTER

In London, the tabloid Daily Sketch said three of its staffers were among the passengers in today's disaster.

They were identified as photographer Brian Fogarty, reporter Lee Benson and 25-year-old Miss Patricia Watson. All were on assignment to interview Prince Shiv.

Police reported finding belongings of the victims as far as two miles from the place where the plane smashed into the earth.

Within three hours, Italian police had recovered all 30 bodies.

The shattered British plane crashed into an Italian artillery testing ground and only about 200 yards from an explosives dump.

Cosimo Baggialemani, 33, who was picking mushrooms, said he heard an explosion.

Looking up, he saw flames and then bits of wreckage fell around him.

DOUKS MISS MIGRATION DEADLINE

'Low-Key Comedy' Asserts Bonner

Proposed move of Sons of Freedom Doukhobors from the interior of B.C. back to Russia was "up in the air" today following failure of the group to meet a government-assistance deadline on filing emigration applications.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said if the Douks still wanted to leave, they would have "to start from scratch" in moves for government assistance.

At the same time it was announced in Ottawa that Justice Minister Davie Fulton would make an announcement later today on the federal government's stand in the matter.

If the Sons of Freedom wish to start again, they likely will have to provide assurance from the Soviet Union that they would be accepted there.

This was the situation on the Doukhobors at noon today.

BAKER OR BRIGADIER—WHO'S UPPER CRUST?

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bakery delivery man Donald M. Clark is wondering if it is his job that has put him in Canada's upper crust.

He received a letter Tuesday telling him he is listed in the Social Register of Canada.

Clark's route is in the Shaughnessy Heights district, which includes the homes of the city's most prominent citizens.

But Mr. Clark thinks it must be a mistake. He said: "There was a Brigadier Donald M. Clark in the Canadian Army. Maybe they got us confused."

Brig. Clark, a Vancouver barrister and police commission member, declined to say whether he had received a similar letter.

Dulles, Chiang Disagree; Parley Termed Failure

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Major disagreements have developed during the talks between Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and President Chiang Kai-Shek, American and Nationalist Chinese sources said today.

The result, they added, leaves little hope for any new approach to a solution of the problems presented by the latest Chinese Communist military and diplomatic assaults.

Dulles probably will return to Washington with few if any concrete results from his Taipei mission, the sources said.

The Nationalist government considered, but dropped, plans to issue a communique tonight after four meetings between Dulles and Chiang—two working sessions and two formal dinner gatherings.

Foreign minister officials here would say only that the two men "had an exchange of views on problems of mutual concern."

The Americans called two news conferences in an attempt to emphasize the smooth progress of the talks, but disclosed only one accomplishment—a re-statement of the established U.S. policy to provide naval escorts for Nationalist supply ships to Quemoy if required.

The Nationalists held no news conferences.

"The persistent reticence of the Nationalists indicated their disappointment," one Chinese source said.

The disagreements are believed centred around an American suggestion that the Nationalists make a general troop reduction, and a Nationalist request for more weapons from the U.S.

Well-informed sources said Dulles asked Chiang to trim the size of his half-million-man army and the generalissimo refused.

The U.S. also held off any promises of more weapons requested by Chiang, the sources said.

People and Things

CHICAGO—Edward Puidk, 42, Tuesday came to terms—his wife's—and saved their marriage.

Mrs. Stephanie Puidk, 42, told Judge Thaddeus Adesso she would not sue her husband, a paper hanger, for divorce if he promised to:

Go to church every Sunday, turn over his pay to her, commit no act of mental or physical cruelty, not lose his temper, not use foul language in front of her or their two children, have more patience, permit her to have guests as often as she wishes and to be courteous to them, buy no more cars without her consent and to join her in seeing a minister if marital trouble arises.

Puidk scanned the commandments and then signed up.

ALBION, Ind.—A 32-year-old amateur magician who managed the Noble County Credit Union for 10 years surrendered on an embezzlement charge Tuesday. A source close to the investigation said a shortage of $1,300,000 may be recovered.

Arnold G. Hobbs, a 250-pound flashy dresser, posted $25,000 bond and was released for arraignment Monday.

LONDON—The House of Lords opened its carved oaken doors to women Tuesday for the first time in history.

And almost at once, the first two women installed as lifetime peeresses dismayed the assembled aristocrats. They refused to take off their hats.

They said they didn't want to mess up their hair.

Other 400-year-old traditions were swept aside as Stella Lady Reading and Barbara Wootton, now lifetime baronesses, took their seats with about 100 black-suited men in the house of "lords and ladies."

Baroness Wootton, 60-year-old socialist economist, declined as a non-believer to take the customary oath of allegiance on the Bible to the Queen. Instead, she made a solemn declaration of allegiance to the sovereign.

TAIPEI, Formosa—A bridegroom jilted at the altar in a nearby town solved his problem by marrying one of the bridesmaids, the newspaper China News reported.

The groom proposed to a 23-year-old bridesmaid, was accepted and married her on the spot.

HE WANTED FIRE TRUCK ALL HIS OWN

NANAIMO—City council rejected an offer from George Crox of Burnaby to purchase a venerable city fire truck for $200.

He had told council it had always been his ambition to own a fire engine.

Ald. P. J. Piper said it should be preserved as part of the city's history, but Ald. Ed Blackburn, who favored seeking a higher bid on the truck, said "we've got enough relics around here now."

2-Hour Park Limit Farce

Ald. Elmer McEwen Tuesday described two-hour parking limits as a "farce intended only for those who scare easily."

He made the comment as city public works committee decided against reducing all parking limits in the city to one hour until it had studied an overall traffic and parking plan to be presented next month.

"It is meaningless to have a policeman on a motorcycle with a stick marking all cars in a parking zone," said Ald. McEwen. "And it belittles his position."

Ald. Arthur Dowell and Ald. M. H. Mooney at last council meeting called for one-hour parking only. They said two-hour limits enable persons to occupy the same space all day by merely moving their cars a few feet once or twice a day.

B.C. Labor Plans Drive For Gov't Car Insurance

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 110,000-member British Columbia Federation of Labor will push its campaign for government auto insurance in B.C.

The federation's annual convention Tuesday adopted an 11-page report which declared the need for a Crown corporation to handle auto insurance "on the Saskatchewan principle."

Labor's campaign will point up "the haphazard method of the pink-slip law of B.C."

A special committee headed by Ed O'Connor of the B.C. Government Employees Association summed up its check into the Saskatchewan plan this way: "In the case of the Saskatchewan act, the principle is the insurance against the social hazards that are created by automobile accidents."

"In the case of B.C., it is insurance to protect the parties who may be involved in an accident created by an automobile owner or driver."

There are two major selling points for government auto insurance, the committee said. It appears much cheaper and, if the Saskatchewan plan is copied, compensation is paid in every case, without regard to who is at fault in an accident."

Saskatchewan government insurance offers a basic plan with collision, third-party liability, fire and theft, comprehensive, and personal injury coverage, the report said.

For those who desire more coverage, an extra premium charge brings a package policy extending bodily injury, property damage and passenger hazard liabilities.

Clare Chubb Funeral Set For Friday

Clare Norman Chubb, 66, former manager of the Hudson's Bay Company department store here, died Tuesday at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Funeral services will be held at Sands Memorial Chapel of Chimes on Friday at 3 p.m. Rev. A. I. Higgins will officiate.

Mr. Chubb came to Victoria in 1944 and managed the company store until his retirement in January this year.

MOST TRAVELLED

Born in Guelph, Ont., Mr. Chubb was regarded as the company's most travelled executive. He made frequent buying trips to the Orient and Europe.

He was a former director of the Victoria Symphony Society and a member of the Union Club.

Mr. Chubb joined the company 30 years ago as a buyer in the Edmonton store, and later served in the Winnipeg and Vancouver stores.

He was merchandise executive at the Calgary store until 1937, when he was made manager of the company's store at Saskatoon. He took charge of the Edmonton store in 1941, remaining until his appointment to Victoria.

In Edmonton, he was well known for his activities in the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, the Red Cross Society and Community Chest.

He is survived by the widow, Clara, 3440 Upper Terrace; a son, E. C. (Ted) Chubb, Nanaimo, and daughter, Mrs. A. Nelson, Vancouver.

Motordom's New Measurement of Greatness!

The Canadian motorist has long since adopted his own personal technique for judging the year's automotive offerings.

He simply looks to the new Cadillac car to discover motordom's fullest measure of all that is new and good and wonderful.

And never before has Cadillac placed such an exacting standard on the world's motor cars as it has for 1959.

For the new "car of cars" has introduced a whole new concept of what an automobile can do and be... and how it should look and act.

To the eye alone, it is a revelation. Elegant, majestic, substantial, poised—it has brought a new magic and splendor to the world of motion.

Its Fleetwood interiors are miracles of advanced design. Appointments are beautiful beyond imagination... and its fabrics and leathers are unbelievably luxurious.

The 1959 Cadillac is equally inspiring from behind the wheel. Its spectacular new engine, its advanced transmission and its new ease of ride and handling make a journey at its wheel the most glorious distance between any two points... a truly rewarding experience.

These Cadillac advancements have been interpreted in thirteen distinctive body styles—including a new Eldorado Brougham.

So if you contemplate the purchase of any motor car in the coming year, you owe yourself an early visit with this newest of Cadillacs.

Sixty minutes in the showroom and on the highway will give you a full understanding of the new way to measure greatness in a motor car.

BATTLE OF MILLIONAIRES

No Log Cabins In Their Past

By HUGH MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—New York State, which prides itself on being very progressive, has chipped away at class consciousness to point where even a millionaire is considered as good as the next fellow.

Even better, when it comes to politics.

AYERELL HARRIMAN

NELSON ROCKEFELLER
... aspirant.

Just because a lad was reared in a 150-room mansion, instead of the traditional log cabin, and happens to own a couple of banks or railways, is no reason to think that he might not some day grow up to be governor.

This year's candidates, Democrat Averell Harriman, the incumbent, and Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller, the aspirant, both boast such patrician beginnings.

LIMITED RUNNING

Half a century ago, if left to the whim of the voters, neither a Harriman nor a Rockefeller could have run for anything but the city limits, and then with an angry mob at his heels shouting "robber baron."

But over the years, a combination of philanthropy, press agency and public service has helped make their names not only socially acceptable in the factory districts but a good deal more politically attractive than the old barefoot-boy type of candidate.

When Averell Harriman, with his boyish grin, shows up at a country fair or at the gates of a paper mill, folks for miles around come out to see not only the $40,000,000 Union Pacific heir, but a former ambassador to London and Moscow, former secretary of commerce, erstwhile non-apologetic new dealer and outspoken liberal.

Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller, in running for his first public office, has emerged from the protective foliage of Pocantico hills, the family's 3,000-acre Westchester County estate, like a frisky brown bear come out of the woods to make friends in a Yellowstone Park picnic grove.

Handsome beyond his party's wildest dreams of wooing the women's vote, The Rock, as he has been nicknamed, has wavy brown hair and twinkling blue-grey eyes.

GOOD FRIENDS

In a campaign devoid of red-hot issues and dignified by practically no mud-slinging they have been friends for 30 years, Harriman and Rockefeller have been criss-crossing the state like two movie stars plugging a new picture.

Harriman's father was Edward H. Harriman, the little giant of Wall Street, who reputedly "feared neither God nor J. P. Morgan" and rose from a $5-a-week pad pusher taking down stock quotations at the exchange to ruler of a financial empire that included the Union Pacific and Illinois Central Railroads, Wells Fargo, several banks and assorted enterprises.

Nelson Rockefeller is the grandson of John D. Rockefeller, the oil magnate who formed the Standard Oil group, and the son of John D. Jr., the philanthropist.

Operating several echelons below Harriman, Rockefeller has been assistant secretary of state, assistant secretary of health, education and welfare, presidential adviser on foreign policy and a prime mover in the Rockefeller reports on government reorganization, defence and education.

'Friendship Builds Bridges'

Over 200 club members from Victoria, Camosun and Duncan clubs assembled at Holyrood House for their first communal founders' dinner.

Victoria club president Jack Pollard said he hoped they will "carry on in future years with all five clubs on the island."

Speaker at the joint dinner was Victoria club member

Rev. William Hills, who welcomed delegates.

Speaking on friendship, he criticized the lack of trust between labor and management.

"Why doesn't labor get the chip off its shoulder," he asked, "and why doesn't management trust labor?"

"Prejudice builds a curtain," he said, "friendship builds bridges and this is the kind of activity that B.C. could use in 1958."

Liberal MLA George Gregory, who introduced the chief speaker, said:

"No one, least of all labor," he said, "gains in a work stoppage."

"The policeman who settles his differences by binding conciliation gains more than the trade unionist who feels that he must rattle his sword in his scabbard."

"And his is a net gain, for he doesn't have to make up for any loss incurred while he was engaged in work stoppage."

'Inconsistent' U.S. Policy Weakens West Says Monty

NEW YORK (CP)—Inconsistencies in United States foreign policy have weakened the West's general strategic position and, if continued, could lead to the breakup of the Western alliance, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery says in an instalment of his memoirs published Tuesday.

The British war leader's story is being serialized in Life magazine and Weekend Magazine in Canada. (Third instalment will appear with Saturday's Times.)

Montgomery writes that the United States must exercise convincing powers of leadership in the free world.

"I often think that the United States' foreign policy is inconsistent. She appears to have one policy in the assembly of the United Nations, and another and different one when her own national interests are involved."

TIME FOR OVERHAUL

Montgomery says the time has come for a thorough overhaul of the concept and organization of NATO, and outlines the need for these changes:

VICTIM IDENTIFIED

SALMO—A man killed on the highway here Monday night was identified by RCMP Tuesday as Wesley Hyatt, about 70, of Salmo.

He was struck by a car driven by Eli Jamaiff of Salmo and died instantly.

1. Although a major war is unlikely, limited and cold war activities outside the NATO area are likely to increase.

"These must be handled firmly," Montgomery says, "so that they do not become the forerunner of a full-scale war."

2. The politico-military structure needs "a searching examination," Montgomery says it is top-heavy, expensive and does not work well. Staffs should be ruthlessly pruned and paperwork cut.

3. Simplicity and decision, two absolute essentials in war, have disappeared from the NATO military organization.

"We are producing commanders trained in the art of compromise," Montgomery says.

4. The high cost of defence is not being seriously tackled, except in the United Kingdom.

ONE POUND, SIX OUNCES

Smallest Baby Lives

BELFAST (AP)—A team of doctors and nurses has won a fight for the life of a baby claimed to be the smallest ever to survive.

six ounces when she was born 14 weeks prematurely at Downpatrick, Sept. 11.

She was brought to hospital here and placed in an incubator.

Peace Force

NEW YORK—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld has cautiously nudged forward the idea of a UN Peace Force—or at least people here think he has. It was done in a report couched in such Hammarskjöldian language however that few people were sure just exactly what it meant. The authoritative Christian Science Monitor headlined it "Hammarskjöld bares UN Peace Force Plan." The equally authoritative New York Times said "UN head opposes a standby force."

What Mr. Hammarskjöld did was to submit to the General Assembly a report on experience gained in the last three years in operations of the UN Emergency Force in Egypt. This was a statement of general principles and was intended to simplify future organization of International Forces. Those close to Mr. Hammarskjöld felt that the Monitor headline had more accurately captured his ideas—he doesn't oppose an International Force but he is cautious in advancing the idea.

Burke

Apparently the secretary-general feels that the best thing to be done at this time is to agree on basic principles, to establish legal basis for international peace operations, and he suggested that there should be "soundings" between governments on this subject. All this would make it simple to organize forces in future but did not propose anything to which any government could raise serious objections.

There is no doubt that Mr. Hammarskjöld supports the general idea of a UN Peace Force. He has often said that the UN must eventually be given greater authority and he gives the impression that he regards the present state of the world as similar to that which existed in feudal times when local barons had supreme power. However, he realizes that the 20th century feudal powers will only gradually recognize the greater power of international authority, and he realizes that trying to push international development too fast will only create resentment and opposition.

In his report to the General Assembly Mr. Hammarskjöld outlined some general principles:

He suggested that International Forces should be recruited from smaller powers only—Canada for example was the main organizer of the UN Emergency Force in the Middle East. He also suggested that members should not be drawn from nations with special interests in any operational area.

International forces should not interfere in any way with domestic issues. This was a most important recommendation—because many neutral nations fear that a UN force would be controlled by the great powers and might be used to put down independence movements. The Soviet Union, playing on such fears, has said that a UN peace force would simply consist of American forces with UN uniforms.

Mr. Hammarskjöld said that International Forces must be subject to their own laws. Experience with UNEF showed, he said, that nations are unwilling to contribute forces if there is danger that they will be subject to foreign laws.

He said that International forces could not operate on national territory without permission of local authorities. Neither would manpower be recruited without permission of contributing nations.

The secretary-general opposed the idea that there should be a military general staff at UN headquarters even for planning purposes. In this he is understood to have opposed the views of his senior advisers, apparently because he wishes to minimize the military flavor of International forces.

The main thing is that Mr. Hammarskjöld wants the General Assembly to agree on basic principles. The Soviet Union and the other Communist nations will presumably not be enthusiastic but it will be difficult for them to oppose. Once this is done the nations can decide—presumably next year—what future steps should be taken.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

London's Changing Face

LONDON—Two familiar bits of London being scrubbed out...

First—the Empress Hall, the exhibition and ice arena that was such a popular venue for Londoners that it is the equivalent of Torontonians losing their Maple Leaf Gardens. Just not an economic proposition any more, so as a start to its demolition there has been an auction, realizing $30,000, of 400 strangely assorted lots.

These included the ice rink's 43,000 feet of steel piping, 6,000 tip-up seats, a revolving summer house base, "sea and cloud effects," a 1,000-watt foot warmer and a motorized eclipse of the sun. Final lot of the sale, appropriately enough, was 10-illuminated "Exit" signs.

The other change calls for an alteration in the underground maps, available free at any tube station—a nine-color job printed 6,000,000 at a time (what a print order!). Aldwych station is being scrapped.

The 600-yard spur line from Holborn to Aldwych was built 50 years ago to fill a gap in London's subway system. But no sooner was it built than it was found that it was a gap nobody really wanted filled.

In many years of moving around London I have never had cause to take the little two-car shuttle train from Holborn to Aldwych—so much easier to hop a bus the short distance. And this has been the case with all but a few Londoners.

During the war Aldwych station (at the end of the Strand, before the start of Fleet Street) was closed and converted into an air raid shelter and storehouse. Fifteen thousand people—mostly bombed-out east enders—slept there in triple-decker bunks set up along the rails and on the platforms.

They had their own little community, with concerts, whist drives, Sunday church services and a 24-hour canteen. Only thing they lacked, since the track was closed, was the chance to jump aboard a train and visit other underground shelters at another station—a favorite pastime of those who slept in the tube during the war.

Also safe 130 feet below ground at Aldwych station was $11,000,000 worth of works of art, stored there by the ministry of works. In the tunnel leading to Holborn were hundreds of the nation's most famous paintings and such treasures as the British Museum's famed Elgin marbles.

But although Aldwych made a worthwhile contribution to the war effort it's not paying its way now, so off the map it goes.

Asia 'Not Ready' For Party Rule

COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters)

—Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike put into words Tuesday a fear fast growing throughout Asia—that the party—cabinet type system of government may be the wrong one for the area.

'NEVER AGAIN' WAR WITH U.K.

LONDON (AP)—West German President Theodor Heuss said Tuesday that the two wars that shattered Britain and Germany "must never happen again, and never will." Heuss spoke at an official city welcome on the second day of his three-day state visit.

"I have always had doubts whether the system is quite suitable to some of our countries," Bandaranaike said at his first press conference in 18 months.

He said the system was "quite excellent" in many Western countries but pointed to recent military takeovers in Thailand, Pakistan and Burma as evidence that it is incompatible with conditions in several Asian nations.

Bandaranaike said the party-cabinet system of government was based on having two major parties, each capable of obtaining an over-all majority in the assembly.

When this situation did not develop, there were bound to be difficulties since the system did not lend itself to coalition arrangements.

The Day YOU Were Born

Leslie Allan Jones, 76 Crease, was born on his parents' ninth wedding anniversary. He loves school—Tolmie Elementary—and has a lot of little friends in the neighborhood. But his best friend is his brother Earl.

Leslie

Earl, a big boy of eight, is a Cub and their mother, Gwenith Jones, is Akela to the pack. Small Leslie therefore is a sort of apprentice Cub and goes along to the weekly meetings.

Leslie is quite a colorist and is half way through a cowboys and Indians scroll he is doing for his room.

On the day he was born: B.C. Telephone Co. was seeking a 14.6 per cent increase in rates and a 10-cent pay phone charge.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Forests Minister Sommers granted Celgar Development Co. Ltd. a 960,000-acre forest management licence in the Castlegar district. Appeals against the granting of the licence were disallowed. "The government is very much aware that it must be alert to foster and to retain the independence and initiative of the small operator," Mr. Sommers is quoted as saying. Local contractors would remove a reasonable percentage of the annual crop.

Members of the congregation of Metropolitan United Church held a banquet to celebrate the opening of new addition to the

Police Appeal For Witnesses To Accident

City police appealed today for witnesses to a traffic accident which seriously injured an elderly pedestrian at Cook and Caledonia Saturday night.

Still in "poor" condition at Jubilee Hospital is victim Axel Couper, 78, of 1508 Gladstone.

He was in collision with a car driven by taxi operator Mok Chi Cheong, 1021 Pandora, at 10.05 p.m.

Police ask anyone who witnessed the accident to offer information to the city police traffic department.

UN Ceremony Friday Morning

Formation of the United Nations on Oct. 24, 1947, will be commemorated at 11 a.m. Friday at a ceremony at the Causeway flagstaff in front of the Empress Hotel.

A. deB. McPhillips, Victoria MP, will raise the UN flag. The Victoria High School band, conducted by R. E. Grant, will be present.

The ceremony is sponsored by the Victoria branch, United Nations Association.

Tories Could Topple In Manitoba Session

WINNIPEG (CP)—A Conservative government will be in power for the first time since 1915 when a special session of the Manitoba Legislature opens Thursday.

Premier Duff Roblin, 41-year-old grandson of the last Conservative government leader, will lead a minority group in the 57-seat house. If the Liberal-Progressives with 19 seats and the CCF with 11 combine against him, his 26 Progressive Conservatives could topple from power.

Although political observers do not expect this to happen at the special fall session, there have been rumblings of rebellion from the opposition camps.

SPEAKER SPARKS

One possible source of a spark that would set off political fireworks is the selection of a speaker. Speculation has centred on A. W. Harrison, veteran Progressive Conservative member for Rock Lake, but one published report said the Liberals' former premier D. L. Campbell would oppose his election and that his defeat would be taken by Mr. Roblin as defeat of the government.

Another speculative story said Mr. Roblin might pick a Liberal as speaker.

Premier Roblin said last week the government will submit "four or five pieces of legislation, with all bills to be in the members' hands opening day. The bills are expected to deal with record road expenditure of more than $24,000,000, an expanded system of education grants, creation of an in-

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Many Bulbs for Fall Planting

The number of different kinds of bulbs to be planted in fall can easily bewilder the home gardener.

Tulips and daffodils are usually not forgotten in the plants, but the host of other bulbs should also receive attention—bulbous English, Spanish and Dutch iris, anemone, ixia and tritonia.

All may be grown in the more sheltered spots of the garden where they will receive winter sun on the soil above them, but also shelter from cold winds which might freeze the soil.

Ixia and tritonia should be given the choicest spots not only for their exquisite beauty of form and coloring in early summer, but because they will not endure hard freezing.

Four inches deep in a humus, gravelly soil should see them through a normal winter. Both the ixia and the tritonia have wiry stems bearing many blossoms somewhat resembling montbretias to which the tritonia is related. Colors in both kinds range from cream through yellows to orange, and include peach, apricot and pale pink.

The bulbous irises certainly deserve wider use, more especially the Spanish and English iris. Both these names are misnomers, for individually they are not native to the countries for which they are named.

The English iris might be described as a smaller edition of the huge Japanese iris which blooms in midsummer. The English iris bears on 15-inch stems somewhat flattish blooms in a color range of blues, purples and white. Flowering in early June when such colors can be most appreciated, English iris like a heavy moist soil, and plenty of sun.

Spanish iris on the contrary, require a lighter, well-drained soil. Flowering about the same time in June, dark bronzy shades are contributed as well as the usual blues, yellow and white.

Social Coverage 'For All' Urged By WCB Chairman

VANCOUVER (CP)—The head of British Columbia's Workmen's Compensation Board said Tuesday that workmen's compensation is outmoded.

J. Edwin Eades told the B.C. Federation of Labor the basic fault lies in "the patch-work quilt of our social security system."

'RUINING WEST'

Bread Before Freedom

TORONTO (CP)—A bread-before-freedom philosophy in the West is contributing to the death of freedom, says philosophy Professor Dr. Marcus Long.

The University of Toronto professor strongly criticized the emphasis on security in present-day society and criticized both management and labor in a speech Tuesday night to the Retail Merchants Association of Canada, Ontario branch.

Businessmen pay lip service to freedom while concerning themselves with conditions which will bring larger profits, he said.

"The worker wants freedom, not because he believes in freedom, but because it gives him a chance to get more money."

Where the freedom of the individual threatens his economic advantage, freedom is restricted or abandoned.

The emphasis on security meant that "no political party in Canada has any chance of success unless it promises to give everybody more money by taking over wider control of our lives."

To prefer bread to liberty is understandable and perhaps forgivable for persons with a past of near starvation but it is inexcusable in the West, he said.

City-Saanich Merger Report Due Monday

A report that could blend Victoria and Saanich into a single community is scheduled to be presented Monday.

Dr. J. J. Deutsch, head of the University of B.C. economics department, Tuesday brought a draft copy of his report on amalgamation for final review by city manager C. C. Wyatt and Saanich comptroller-treasurer John Tribe, completing a three-month study.

The report will be presented to a Victoria-Saanich committee and is expected to form the basis of a referendum this December in both municipalities.

145 Cadets Set For Weekend Of Special Tours

Annual military weekend for cadets of the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, will be held from Friday to Sunday.

Thirty of about 145 cadets will visit the RCN Pacific Command, and be taken in small craft to the USN base at Bremerton for tours of ship and shore establishments. Sixty-four will visit the RCAF station at Comox, and the rest the Royal Canadian School of Military Engineering at Chilliwack.

The program is designed to familiarize the cadets with activities of all three armed services.

"In my opinion, it is perfectly feasible and logical to extend the workmen's compensation program so it would cover all workmen who are employed against the hazards of injury, no matter where or how, and against the hazards of illness, no matter how or where."

"If you want that social coverage with coverage which modern thinking in many of the older countries considers just and equitable, then this federation should place its weight behind the scheme."

Mr. Eades urged a proper and independent inquiry of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

'Impulse' Drove Boy To Stab 11 Horses

DORKING, Eng. (Reuters)—A 15-year-old boy who stabbed 11 horses in or near their left eye with a ball-point pen Tuesday was sent to a reform school by a juvenile court. One of the animals was an $8,400 race horse. Another was worth $5,600. Court chairman Gordon Clark said the boy had declared he had an "overwhelming impulse" to wound the animals.

The president and vice-president of Brazil are elected for a five-year term, and are not eligible for re-election.

Reeve Defends Zoning Bylaw

Reeve George Chatterton said today an over-all bylaw to restrict large subdivisions to certain districts in Saanich would in no way halt the servicing and development of rural areas in the municipality.

The bylaw has been completed by Saanich town planner Tony Parr and will be submitted to council in the near future.

The reeve, answering criticisms from a Prospect Lake group that the bylaw would be detrimental to rural areas, said the plan to control subdivisions to certain zones would have the opposite effect on people living in outlying districts.

COMPLEMENTARY

"There need be no conflict between the rural and urban areas of Saanich," he said. "Each part needs the other to create a whole where people may freely choose the surroundings in which they prefer to live."

The bylaw, he said, would curb the rising tax rate in all areas of Saanich. It would also enable Saanich to increase and improve services in both rural and urban areas.

Under the present setup, he said, there were no areas safe from a high tax rate.

"A subdivision can spring up in a rural area, forcing the tax rate up on householders in the district," he said. "The high expenses in servicing the subdivision also have to be borne by all residents of the municipality."

The reeve said the bylaw was misunderstood by some people as a "freeze order" on rural development.

"This is not the case," he said, adding, "I am prepared to discuss the problem with any group."

'STERN MEASURES' SUGGESTED FOR BADLY-DRESSED STUDENTS

Improperly dressed students should be refused admittance to schools, trustee Kenneth Leeming told Greater Victoria School Board Monday night.

He said "stern measures" should be taken against some students who were failing to follow the board's code for proper dress.

"They should be sent home and told to come back properly dressed," he said.

Mr. Leeming added that school principals should be instructed to take all necessary measures to enforce the code.

Poll Oct. 29 On Jaycee Rink Project

Victorians will decide whether they want a new ice surface next to Memorial Arena.

Jaycees, who are committed to over 15 per cent of the cost, will conduct a public opinion poll from 7 p.m. to midnight Oct. 29.

Stewart Hagar, director of the project, said that "between 20 and 24 persons" will be manning the phones asking people first, if they are in favor of a rink, and second, do they approve of a public appeal for funds.

Jaycees would do no calling, he said. Victorians would be asked to phone in their opinions. Cost of the building, which will measure 195 by 100 feet, is estimated at $145,000, including 15 per cent contingency for rising wages and costs during construction.

"We will have prepared a brochure on the project," said Mr. Hagar, "which will be sent to anyone phoning in and asking for it."

Ducking stools were used in medieval England to lower witches and drunkards into ponds. If they sank they were innocent.

"FOR FAST, WRITTEN ANSWERS WE RELY ON B.C. TELEPHONE TELETYPE"

Charles G. McConville, comptroller, Alberta Distillers Limited, finds B.C. Telephone Teletype the perfect answer for getting answers—immediately and in writing.

"A teletyped conversation between our Vancouver head office and our distillers in Calgary leaves no doubt about what was said or what was decided," says Mr. McConville. "When we found a single medium of communication that combines the immediacy of the telephone with the permanency of a letter, we didn't hesitate to make use of it. Its value to us has been proven over and over again."

Large or small, two offices or a dozen, B.C. Telephone Teletype can save time and money for your business. No capital investment is required; the service is leased by us and maintained by us. For complete information call General Sales, Mutual 3-5511. Outside Greater Vancouver call "Collect" or ask the Long Distance operator for Zenith 7000. There is no charge for this call.

Canada's Exporters Urged to Tap Markets in Underdeveloped Lands

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP)—Sir Saville Garner, United Kingdom High Commissioner to Canada, Tuesday night challenged Canadian exporters to help raise the living standards in under-developed countries and so tap promising markets for goods.

He told the closing dinner of the two-day annual meeting of the Canadian Exporters' Association.

"The African villager, the Indian peasant and the West Indian laborer—who at present make almost no demand on the world's goods—present a stimulating opportunity."

GREAT VICTORY

"If we can meet it, we shall not only have achieved a great victory in the battle for men's minds, but we shall also have set up new demands."

Referring to the September Commonwealth trade conference in Montreal, Sir Saville said:

"We all recognize that in today's world all of us are interdependent. But at Montreal there was a new directness and a new conviction that prosperity is indivisible and that it is not healthy for world peace or international stability that some countries should have so much and some so little.

"We also know that if the hopes of the less-developed countries are too long deferred, the democratic institutions may be in danger."

Sir Saville said Britain today is strong and is reaping the rewards of restraint in the last year.

"Our foreign exchange reserves have been steadily rising and the last six months saw the first surplus in trading since the beginning of the century. I believe the prospects for an upsurge in Anglo-Canadian trade are good."

ANSWERS DOUBTS

In reply to expressed doubts about British concessions announced at Montreal, H. Leslie Brown, assistant deputy minister of trade and commerce, said:

"Britain is sincerely and positively anxious to get rid of trade restrictions. British statements at Montreal were not made lightly."

He suggested the next year would tell how far Britain would be able to go in removing all restriction against imports.

This year she had at last broken the postwar two-year cycle of recurring financial crises and if she could continue this for another 12 months, then full convertibility of sterling might be "at hand."

Overstaffing Claim Denied By Trustees

Greater Victoria school board Monday decided to inform Mayor Percy Scurrell that it has not hired too many teachers to staff city schools.

Mayor Scurrell previously had written the board asking whether Victoria schools were among those that Education Minister Leslie Peterson recently said were overstaffed.

Mrs. W. W. McGill, school board chairman, said that "we could have 11 more teachers and we can prove it by figures."

Mrs. McGill said the school board was within the limit set by the education department on staff size.

VICTORY LOAN CONVERSION HITS 90%

OTTAWA (CP)—More than 90 per cent of the outstanding Victory Loan bonds—totaling $6,416,000,000—were exchanged for Canada Conversion Loan bonds, the finance department reported Tuesday.

Preliminary figures, which the department said are subject to minor revisions, showed that $5,803,000,000 worth of Second World War Victory bonds were converted at Oct. 14.

The Canada Conversion Loan, which provided bonds with longer terms and higher interest rates than the victory issues, closed Sept. 15.

In nautical terms, a cable's length is 120 fathoms, or 720 feet.

Huge Deal for Mill Shares

TORONTO (CP)—National Trust Company Limited announced Tuesday night it has been instructed by an unidentified client to purchase up to 300,000 common shares of Ogilvie Flour Mills Company Limited at $44.75 a share. The offer involves $13,325,000.

Ottawa Position For Island Doctor

Dr. E. W. R. Best, since 1950 director of the Central Vancouver Island Health Unit, has tendered his resignation to the Central Vancouver Island Union Board of Health, effective Dec. 31.

He has accepted the position of chief epidemiologist with the National Health Department at Ottawa.

Dr. Best first came to B.C. in 1947 and headed the health unit at Vernon until he accepted the Nanaimo appointment, succeeding Dr. A. N. Beattie.

He had been offered the position of chief epidemiologist with the National Health Department at Ottawa.

This offer to purchase was advertised on a "first come, first served" basis.

A National Trust spokesman refused to disclose any details about the unidentified purchaser. The offer, initially, will be open until Nov. 5, but may be withdrawn at any time except in the case of shares already deposited.

The South African motor industry is facing a critical period with 23,000 unsold cars in the showrooms.

Go FORD-ward for savings!

ANNOUNCING

They're here now—and they're terrific—from the smart pickups right up to giant 51,000-lb. GVW Extra Heavies. Go FORD-ward in '59, and you'll be 'way out front in savings, style and dependability!

Only Ford makes a Six, as well as V-8's, with a stroke that's shorter than the bore diameter. This Short Stroke design cuts power-wasting friction, increases gas mileage and engine life. And new carburetion gives added economy.

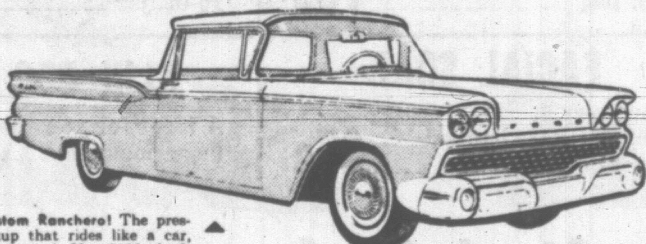

Throughout the line you'll find new savings features. A wider choice of transmissions, for example, including new Heavy Duty Cruise-O-Matic for  $\frac{3}{4}$ - and 1-ton models and the Parcel Delivery series. Huskier construction than ever in the heavier models. An outstanding new optional differential for providing smooth traction under slippery conditions. Pickups with cab-wide body, smart new looks, and the smoothest ride in their class.

See your Ford Truck Dealer, too, for trucks with the best durability record. An independent study of 10 million North American trucks proves, for the 13th straight year, that Ford Trucks last longer!

FORD TRUCKS
COST LESS

... less to own ... less to run ... last longer, too!

SEE YOUR FORD TRUCK DEALER

New Custom Ranchero! The prestige pickup that rides like a car, works like a truck. New 118" wheelbase gives more loadspace. The Ranchero actually packs more payload than many standard pickups.

New F-950 has a 51,000-lb. maximum GVW. 75,000-lb. maximum GVW. Conventional and tilt cab series range up to 36,000-lb. GVW and 65,000-lb. GVW. Ford Extra Heavies feature Super Duty V-8's up to 534 cubic inches, 277 horsepower and 490 lbs.-ft. of torque.

Canada's Lowest-Priced Line of Tilt Cabs! Can carry a 2-ft. longer body than a conventional truck and keep within the same overall length. Outstanding engine and transmission accessibility cuts maintenance costs.

New Cab Interiors! Easy on the eye, easy to drive in, easy to keep up! New standard upholstery is twice as durable as last year's rugged fabric. New Custom Cab features 2-color dash and door panels, chrome-trimmed instruments, 5" of foam rubber in seat.

New Styleside Pickup! With Ford's cab-wide pickup body you get extra style and extra room. Extra strength, too, from the heavier new bumper to the all-steel floor and the rigid wrap-around rear body corners. And the flush body allows easy loading and unloading from the sides.

U.S. WRITER'S VIEW ON CHINA

Indeed, the Chinese are demonstrating an aptitude for manufacture that few Westerners once would have believed. I talked with businessmen from Denmark, Britain and Germany and the consensus of their comment was: "Chinese learn fast, can operate machinery well."

Several Red engineers and plant managers told me they keenly desired to see U.S. plants and methods but realized that was impossible, because, as one put it, "Your Mr. Dulles has erected a Bamboo Curtain that would prevent it." (This assertion that the Bamboo Curtain was erected by the U.S. and not Red China is a recurrent Red refrain.)

"Before the liberation," a Chinese plant official told me, "we produced only 923,000 tons of steel and 1,800,000 tons of pig iron. Last year we produced 5,300,000 tons of steel. This year's goal is 10,000,000 tons and next year's is 20,000,000—almost as much as Britain."

Britain's net tonnage of ingots and steel for castings in 1952 was 24,300,000. America's was 112,700,000. Thus Britain's production is the first plateau the struggling Chinese hope to reach. They talk about achieving economic parity with Britain in 10 to 15 years. A few optimistic Communists even talk of five.

Huge Effort

Who knows whether these goals are solid prospects or wishful planning? One only sees today that there is a vast flexing of muscle, a tremendous state-directed upsurge of effort and that the first signs of an industrial civilization are beginning to stamp themselves upon mainland China.

China's industry may not look impressive to an American but there are indications the Russians have begun to sit up and regard it with some seriousness. (It could, if increased, make Peiping as independent of Moscow industrially as it has begun to be ideologically.)

And the visitors from the rice paddy and ox cart countries of Asia who come here to visit stand around in goggle-eyed amazement at Red China's trickle of industrial wonders.

There's an atomic reactor (which I did not see) and they're turning out television sets, jet planes, automobiles, tractors and machine tools.

At an export exhibit in Shanghai I picked up sales literature in English for 6,500 products which were said to be exported to 82 countries. Copies of American toothpaste, sewing machines and fountain pens were easily recognized.

Although they manufacture trucks, the bulk of commerce teeters along in baskets slung from shoulder poles or on two-wheeled carts drawn by two or three human horses.

China makes the "East Wind" automobile but you can't own a car in China so everyone except high government officials walks, bicycles or goes by pedicab.

Human Ants

An industrial exhibition showed a giant crane with a five square yard bite. But out on the dams and irrigation ditches

There is something that clutches the throat in the sight of 20 or 30 thousand human ants swarming over one of these great earth-moving projects. The earth is tamped by lifting a heavy concrete block and letting it fall, in time to a sad rhythmic song that sounded much like the chant I'd heard in a Peiping Catholic church.

In Shenyang I saw a modern lathe factory where 5,000 workers were said to be turning out 4,000 precision lathes a year. "By next year we'll be making 10,000 and our factory will be as big as one I saw in Moscow," the vice-chairman reported proudly. And he added: "I don't know about the United States. I'd like to see some of your factories."

Every conceivable short cut and steel saving device is taken. In Nanking an engineer showed me truck cranks made partially from iron, part from steel. "We find they work well," he said.

There is no private business left in Red China. Everything is government or joint owned. This last is a device whereby the conscientious capitalist may petition the government to make him a joint owner.

"How did you become a joint owner?" I asked a woman of 45. "I realized that as a capitalist I was exploiting my employees. I had to worry about getting materials, about competition. So I petitioned the government."

"And how has it worked out?"

"Oh, much better. Our production has gone up. I get the same salary as my income when I owned the shop. (This is $82 a month, almost twice what the factory manager is paid.) And I'm paid five per cent interest on the value of the property for five years."

Surge of Ideas

A great "rectification" campaign that swept all Red China is just drawing to a close. The purpose was to encourage workers to make suggestions for doing things better, easier, more economically. Suggestions were hand brushed on paper and stuck on the factory walls for discussion.

Many a factory manager has come out of his office to face handwriting on his wall which said: "Comrade Manager: If you did not put on so many airs and met your workers more often we could increase production."

Some of the fantastic ideas like the wooden automobile I told about earlier came out of this gigantic "suggestion box."

The biggest problem seems to be capital. What help the Chinese get from the Russians and other "people's democracies" costs dearly. So therefore her industrial expansion must be based largely on what can be wrung from the hides of peasants who have struggled for centuries just to keep alive.

And over it all beams the benign face of Mao Tse-tung, who said four years before he took over the mainland government: "Without industry there can be no people's welfare and no national prosperity and power."

INAO MAKES THREE-GAME WINNERS SEEM ORDINARY

TOKYO (AP) — The newest baseball hero of Japan is a 21-year-old son of a Kyushu fish-monger — a young pitcher who almost single-handedly won the Japan "world series."

He is Kazuhisa Inao, a sleepy-eyed, muscular athlete who seemingly never tires.

A pitcher for the Nishitetsu Lions, he saw his team lose the first three games to the Yomiuri Giants of the best-of-seven series. Then, in a rally reminiscent of the Yankees' comeback against Milwaukee, the Lions proceeded to win the next four games.

Inao won them all. He pitched a record 26 scoreless innings. He didn't issue a walk for 18 innings.

END OF AN ERA

Juan Not Anxious To Join 'Gallery'

By OSCAR FREALEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Age and a gallery of ghosts sent Juan Manuel Fangio into retirement today. The five-time champion of the auto racing world called it quits because the exhilaration of winning "turned into a burden of mere fatigue." But there was more to it than that.

The 47-year-old Argentinian admits that he sees too many spectres on the sidelines.

"In the last 10 years, more than 20 of my racing comrades died behind the wheel," mourns the balding, paunchy man who many consider the greatest race driver of them all. "Our reunions nowadays look like gatherings of war veterans who try but cannot forget those who never came back."

He sees his retirement as the end of an era, which it is, and confesses that the younger dare-devils of track and road have made it too "tough" for an aging champion with slowed reflexes.

"The cycle is completed," he says. "All the great ones are gone—one way or another. It is my turn."

"It has to be a happy ending, in that he didn't go 'another' way as most of the great ones did."

Fangio had more than a quarter-century of it, which is many more years than most of them survived.

It's a Cold, Calculating Science

There are two classes of drivers. The first is composed of the "lead foots," the dare-devils who know no other way except to "put their foot through it." Then there are the "safe and sure" ones, who know every inch of their cars and drive with their heads as well as their hearts.

Fangio started as the former and became the best of the latter, turning racing into a cold and calculated science. He walked the track for hours, inspecting the turns and searching for danger spots. The week before a race he was in bed at 10 p.m. every night, training with the fervor of a prize fighter.

"A man can't play until the early hours of the morning and expect to have sharp reflexes," he explained simply.

It was a formula which produced racing's greatest success today. Despite the encroaching years, Fangio won them all, and kept right on winning. So great was his fame that last February, before a Cuban race, he was kidnapped from his Havana hotel by Cuban rebels because they knew it would gain them world-wide attention.

Fangio tried to qualify at Indianapolis last May, but the car he had was a "bucket of bolts" and he didn't make it. Yet even those who in the ways of the speedway admired his touch and calm.

"But now I am tired in body as well as spirit," he says in announcing his retirement. "I have always thought of my car not as a cold machine but as a hot-blooded horse, racing with the rider in one beautiful, harmonious unit."

"As for me," he concludes, "the rider has grown older and more blasé than the horse."

That feeling, plus the gallery of ghosts, told him it was time to go—walking.

In the second single of the touring professional troupe, Ken Rosewall defeated Pancho Segura 6-4, 5-7, 6-1.

RIVAL COACHES LAUD

Canadian Capers Pay Off

CHICAGO (AP)—This is the year of varied formations and Chicago Cardinals are adding spice to the already hopped-up National Football League.

Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy, who took over this season after winning the Grey Cup three times in four years with Edmonton Eskimos, has introduced the double wing-T and triple wing-T in the pro loop. His success is a matter of record. Cardinals are tied for second place in the entire division and lead the entire league in total offence. They have lost two of their four games only because of failings on defence.

Ivy's innovations are hand-me-downs from Canadian football.

These wing formations enable a team to exploit the passing game no end as attested by the Cardinal record of 63 completions in 119 attempts for 1,023 yards and eight touchdowns.

"We may sacrifice a little straight power," says Ivy, "but we also have four or five men to pass to quickly. Also our backs are close enough so

Don's Batting Proves Better Than Pitching

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Don Newcombe, who hasn't done much effective pitching the last couple of seasons, led major league hurlers in batting with a .361 average in 1958.

He collected 26 hits in 72 times at bat. He had one double and one home run and drove in nine runs. Newcombe was traded by Los Angeles Dodgers to Cincinnati Redlegs during last season.

Warren Spahn of Milwaukee Braves outslugged Newcombe but finished second in batting with .333. Spahn had six doubles, one triple, two homers and drove in 15 runs.

Don Larsen of New York Yankees was top man in the American League with a .306 average. He had 15 hits, including four home runs.

Len Matthews Earns Verdict Over Zulueta

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Len Matthews, stung by a bad cut over his right eye in the fourth round that threatened to end the fight at any time, poured on all his speed, youth and power to floor veteran Orlando Zulueta twice Tuesday night and take a unanimous 10-round decision.

Matthews, unbeaten 19-year-old Philadelphian, seemed puzzled by the sharp boxing of the 30-year-old Cuban veteran of 109 fights through the early rounds.

Matthews, at 133, spotted his opponent two pounds.

Big Four Seeks New TV Sponsor For Next Season

OTTAWA (CP)—The Big Four Football Union is in the market for a sponsor to televise its games next season.

Sam Berger, president of Ottawa Rough Riders and chairman of the Interprovincial Rugby Union's television committee, said negotiations are under way for televising Big Four playoffs this season in the West and for bringing Western Football Conference play-offs into the East.

Berger said the Big Four's contract with a brewing company, which has held the TV franchise for the last three years, has been terminated by mutual consent.

England led 1-0 at half time and then completely outplayed the Russians in the second half.

Haynes scored in the 44th minute, the 62nd minute and the 80th minute. Inside right Bobby Charlton got the fourth goal from a penalty in the 84th minute and centre forward Nat Lofthouse completed the rout a minute from time with the fifth goal.

It was the first time the Russians had played in England, but the fourth time the two teams have met this year. Two of the games ended in a tie. Russia won the other—a World Cup encounter—1-0.

The England forwards bulldozed their way through the Russian defence. In the end it was just a question of how many goals England would get.

PORTLAND (AP) — Portland Beavers ended the Pacific Coast League baseball season with a profit. Club president Arch Kingsley said, however, that he will not disclose the amount until a meeting of stockholders Nov. 17.

Rowing's Rebels Rattle Oxford

OXFORD, England (AP)—A lanky Yank at Oxford who doesn't like traditional British technique became the centre Tuesday of the biggest rowing row in a century.

Reed Rubin, six-foot, four-inch, 200-pound former Yale man from New York City, started it all by disagreeing openly with Oxford University's training methods and technique for the 105th rowing of the boat race against Cambridge University in March.

Rubin, who rowed on the Oxford crew last year, formed a pirate crew of his own—to train independently of the official Oxford crew.

Ronald Howard, president of Oxford rowing and responsible for forming the crew to meet Cambridge, made it clear he will have no part of the rebels unless they disband and return to the official fold.

The rebel crew includes some of the best oarsmen at Oxford, including Rubin and another Yale man, Charles L. Grimes, of Locust Valley, N.Y.

Howard turned down a challenge by the rebel crew to race against the official eight. The rebels' idea was that the win-that they can take the ball and run with it."

In the double wing-T, Cardinals split their ends as wide as desired. The quarterback and fullback remain in regular T-formation positions. The two halfbacks, however, are a yard behind the line of scrimmage and directly behind or a step outside the tackles.

This gives the halfbacks an advantage of several yards if they are used as pass receivers. Also, they can pull back and block for the passer.

In the triple wing-T, there is only one difference. The fullback leaves his regular position and moves in between the split end and the halfback. This way the Cardinals have five pass receivers who can move into the secondary quickly.

"It's a tough system to use," says Ivy, "because split-second timing is required. It has been a lot of hard work but I think we're getting the idea now."

Maybe others will too. Rival coaches are praising the system which is proving to be a real crowd pleaser.

Quaker Harvest Goes On

(From CP Reports)

Saskatoon Quakers believe in making hay while the sun shines. The sun seems to be still shining on Saskatoon and Quakers continue to pile points onto their lead atop the Prairie Division in the Western Hockey League.

The latest points came from their 4-2 conquest of Calgary Stampeders before 2,800 hometown fans Tuesday night.

It was the fifth victory in six games for the Quakers and their fourth straight win on home ice. The loss left Calgary tied for second place with Edmonton Flyers, four points behind Saskatoon.

Les Lilley, Elliott Chorley, Merv Kuryluk and Howie Milford scored for the Quakers. Sid Finney and Bruce Lea replied for Calgary.

Kuryluk, an ex-Cowboy, scored what proved to be the winner and also picked up an assist to help beat his former teammates.

All the scoring came in the second period, with Quakers all ways in front. Stampeders twice pulled within a single goal of the leaders, but couldn't break through to tie them.

Calgary's Ed Dorohoy missed 10 minutes of the last period when he was given a misconduct penalty for back talk to referee Al Paradise.

Rubin disagrees with Howard in training and technique. He thinks too much time is spent on the water and not enough spent in coaching the individuals before they are assembled in their boat.

Kramer Wearing Out Aussies' Welcome Mat

MELBOURNE (AP)—A ranking Australian tennis official Tuesday night warned professional promoter Jack Kramer that he might be prevented from staging his pro matches anywhere in Australia.

The official, Victorian Lawn Tennis Association president R. M. Vroland, was commenting on reports that Kramer was planning matches in Melbourne and Sydney outside official tennis venues.

Vroland said Kramer had objected to granting free admission to members of the Victoria, New South Wales and Western Australian lawn tennis associations in return for the right to rent their courts for his matches.

But apparently Kramer found the terms offered by South Australia and Queensland acceptable, because they wanted only a concession rate for admission of their members.

Vroland added: "There is much more to this Kramer business than that. Unless Kramer agrees to the terms of Victoria, New South Wales and Western Australia he will find himself out altogether in those states."

"Furthermore, as Queensland and South Australia need the

Cougars Win Third in Row; Take Over Second Place

Victoria 7, New Westminster 3

By DOUG PEDEEN

Pat Hannigan's intentions were very clear. Only his aim was fuzzy.

The trigger-tempered New Westminster forward swung his stick at Victoria rookie Don McLeod in the waning seconds of Tuesday night's Western Hockey League game at Memorial Arena—and clipped teammate George McAvoy across the forehead.

By the time McLeod and Hannigan had brewed up the fracas that threatened to develop into a vicious free-for-all, the outcome of the game was no longer in doubt. But Pat's stick-wielding effort was typical of what had been happening to the Royals all night.

Badgered and frustrated by the Cougars' aggressive checking and smooth passing, the Royals were seldom able to get untracked. They spent a good part of the time getting in each other's way and ended up by taking a 7-3 thumping to remain solidly in the Coast Division cellar.

It was the third straight triumph for the spirited Cougars and the Cats, who never managed to climb out of the cellar for a breath of fresh air all last season, arrived at New Westminster today for tonight's return bout with Mr. Hannigan and company all alone in second place.

If the clubs take up where they left off, it could be quite a battle as the Cougars shoot for the fourth successive victory which would move them into a tie with the front-running Seattle Totems.

McLeod, dumped by Hannigan beside the Victoria net seconds before the last-minute melee, will miss tonight's game. Before he could scramble to his feet, someone planted a skate across his right hand, neatly trimming the nail off one finger and slicing a gash in another.

George Also Got His Signals Crossed

Rookie Dave Rimstad will step in for McLeod on the Victoria blue-line corps and Frank Milne will make his first appearance of the season, taking over from Clare Waskinski in the pivot spot between wingers George Ford and Murray Wilkie.

McAvoy, defence star of the 1955 world amateur champion Penticton Vs, needed several stitches to close the gash in his forehead. He also got his signals crossed and blamed McLeod for the blood-letting, retaliating by bouncing his stick off the Cougar defence-man's skull before being wrestled out of the way by Victoria's Jim Hay.

Before referee Vern Buffey finally got things under control and started figuring out penalties, several bare-knuckle battles threatened. Hannigan and McLeod ended up with match penalties and automatic $50 fines. McAvoy and Dick Van Impe of Royals and Victoria's Jean Marc Picard and Waskinski all received five-minute sentences for fighting. Al Nicholson, who steamed off the Cougar bench, earned a misconduct penalty and a $10 fine.

Although Cougars flashed their best passing of the season, it was their checking that spelled the difference as they grabbed a 3-1 first-period lead, stretched it to 6-3 in the middle session, and collected the only goal of the final period.

They were also more decisive in their work behind the blue line and goalie Marcel Pelletier, who had averaged almost 40 saves per game in Victoria's first four starts, had a relatively quiet evening as the Cats outshot their rivals for the first time.

Pelletier turned aside 24 drives, many of them close-in sizzlers, while Bev Bentley was stopping 29 at the end.

Veteran winger Enio Scisizzi got the Cougars away in front after six minutes and finished up with his second two-goal effort. Stan Baluk also notched two Victoria tallies and George Ford, Gordon Haworth and Doug Macauley each beat Bentley once.

Triggering goals for Royals, who have diminutive sparkplug forwards Art Jones and Arnie Schmutz sidelined with injuries, were Ron Matthews, Hannigan and Van Impe.

The 11 minor penalties whistled by Buffey, six to New Westminster, played a big part in the scoring.

Royals scored once while McLeod was serving one of his four minors. The Cougars rapped in two goals while Royals were shorthanded and made it a completely miserable evening for New Westminster coach Hal Laycoe by scoring twice while Royals were enjoying a manpower advantage.

Stamps Get McKenzie From NHL Black Hawks

Calgary Stampeders are building for better things in the Western Hockey League. The Prairie Division Stampeders have released two players, suspended one and acquired three more, coach Gus Kyle has announced.

Biggest acquisition is rookie forward John McKenzie, who started in the National Hockey League with Chicago Black Hawks. McKenzie played last year for St. Catherine's Teespees in the Ontario Hockey Association and collected 49 goals and 50 assists.

Also joining the Stamps are forward Ron Quenville, who attended the Chicago training camp, and Bill Hay, from Regina Pats of the Saskatchewan junior loop.

SMITH SCOUTING

Kyle released Fred Hiltz to the Teespees and Cliff Bristow to Kelowna Packers, who are preparing for a tour of Russia and Sweden.

Suspended was veteran Gordon Hudson. Packers, incidentally, are being scouted by Sid Smith, playing coach of the 1958 world amateur champion Whitby Dunlops.

Smith will watch the Packers in regular Okanagan Senior Hockey League games this week and make a report to the Canadian association.

In NHL news, Carl Brewer, who has been going the rounds with Toronto Maple Leafs more or less as an observer, signed a

Doug Peden

Knocking down birds isn't the only satisfaction in shotgun hunting. A dog with good bird sense and eager to help out on the job can make just about any day a good one.

Birds weren't too difficult to find during the first few days of the pheasant season. But, especially since I missed opening morning, getting them out into the open within range has, as usual, been a different matter.

Once the firing starts, the safest place for pheasants in these parts is thick brush, and those sprinting imports from old Cathay know it. Robbie, my black Labrador, also knows it and any credit for the fact that I have used up some pheasant tags is strictly his.

He has a parcel of faults and might not please anyone else. Most of the faults, especially his habit of ranging well away from the gun, can be blamed on my training, since I subscribe to the theory that in this area a dog working well into the brush will produce more pheasants—and often more grouse—than a close-quartering animal. We get along just fine and hunting wouldn't be the same without him.

Most of the time he seems to remember we are supposed to be operating as a team, and I'll swear he finds a savage delight in smashing through heavy cover to chase cackling ringnecks off the ground.

Even an Enthusiastic Dog Must Wonder

But even an eager dog must wonder at times if the other half of the team is holding up his end and if it is all worth while.

Monday afternoon, birds were elusive near Stelly's Cross Road. In two hours we got into a big covey of quail, which no longer tempt my trigger finger, flushed a willow grouse that managed to keep its retreat covered by trees, and four pheasants—a hen that avoided the open space I had covered, a big rooster that wisely took off 100 yards away, and a couple I didn't see.

Then another ringneck hot-footed into a jumbled tangle of brush a couple of hundred yards ahead and, after a quick sprint, I sent the dog in after him.

He bulldozed around in a game of hide-and-seek with the bird for over 10 minutes, came out briefly, and then crashed in for another try, eventually chasing his long-tailed enemy into the air.

There were a few branches in the way, but it was a reasonably simple shot. I managed to flub it very neatly.

After finding nothing to retrieve, Robbie didn't pay me much attention during the remaining half-hour of shooting time. And when I got home from work yesterday, he didn't even bother to disturb his nap on the lawn for the usual tail-wagging-from-the-ears-back greeting. Perhaps he was still tired, or perhaps . . .

Unless we get some unexpectedly poor hunting weather, the Vancouver Island deer kill this season should reach an all-time high.

An unusually large carry-over of adult deer and a bumper crop of fawns has resulted in a healthy increase in almost all parts of the Island. Helped by spells of wet weather, hunters have recorded better-than-average success during the past few weeks, although October is often labelled the "exercise month" of deer hunters.

Game biologist Don Robinson reports an exceptionally high take, particularly in the Nanaimo area. Hunters' surveys have shown a one-in-seven success ratio in the Northwest Bay section and good results from the Nanaimo Lakes-Nanaimo River country.

Figures released from the game branch's Cache Creek checking station show that up to Oct. 11, 872 resident hunters returning home from the Cariboo and northern districts had harvested 157 bull moose, 47 buck mule deer, two goats and one caribou.

They also checked through with 101 blue grouse, 276 Franklin, 1,418 ruffed and 83 sharp-tailed grouse, in addition to 625 ducks and 64 geese.

Non-resident sportsmen, a total of 382, had a better average. They packed home 175 bull moose, 19 buck deer, 21 goats, seven sheep, six caribou, 12 black bear and 12 grizzlies. They had also a total of 492 grouse, 120 ducks and seven geese.

CURLING DEFINITION

What's a Pro? Ontario Knows!

TORONTO (CP)—A professional curler was defined for the first time Tuesday by the Ontario Curling Association.

There haven't been any pros in Canadian curling until Ontario tackled that label on Saskatchewan's Campbell brothers, Don and Garnet, last year. The ink wasn't dry on a new OCA bylaw Tuesday when Don announced he was quitting his job as instructor at the Royal Canadian Club here. He will still be secretary-manager at Tam O'Shanter.

The OCA annual meeting sought to define professional status without penalty or waiting period.

"No registered member who acts as an instructor or teacher of curling and receives payment or other remuneration for such services, shall play in any association competition."

Among other things, the amendment clarifies the position of club secretary-manager who may instruct members. There is no prohibition on teaching for free. The bylaw also excludes physical education teachers who may coach school curlers.

Any pro who resigns can re-turn immediately to amateur status without penalty or waiting period.

Elite Curling Company Includes Gutoski Rink

Official entries of 176 rinks from Western Canada have been received for the Totem Bonspiel to be held in Vancouver during Grey Cup week—Nov. 23 to 28.

Heading the list of 80 entries from outside the Vancouver area is the Matt Baldwin rink from Edmonton, last year's national champions. There are 13 other rinks entered from Alberta.

Saskatchewan and Manitoba are also represented in the entry list.

The B.C. curling champions, the Tony Gutoski rink of Victoria, has also entered.

One of the most famous names in hockey a couple of decades ago was that of Baldy Northcott. His Winnipeg rink is among the Manitoba group that also includes the Al Derrett rink.

One entry is contingent upon

Forest Fires Aid Blue Grouse, Deer

Deer, blue grouse and some other wildlife are expected to multiply in British Columbia as a direct result of the 1958 disastrous fire season.

Provincial parks biologist R. Y. Edwards said Tuesday the burned-over areas provide fertile growing areas for huckleberries, salal, willows and other vegetation which provide feed for game birds and animals.

Deer and grouse and some other animals are not abundant in dense forest, "but remove the forest and they increase like compound interest," he stated.

BETTER THAN EVER

He added, "past forest fires and logging operations have made B.C. a better game country now than it was before the arrival of the white man."

"Vancouver Island is the centre of abundance in the world for blue grouse," Mr. Edwards said. He felt the Butte Lake fire may have done damage to elk range and created suffering among other game, but there should be ample food in the area next year.

Bruins Content to Stay Pat

MONTREAL (AP)—The Bruins are on new faces in the National Hockey League this season with more than a score of rookies battling for regular jobs and only the Boston Bruins content to go with an all-veteran club.

"This is one of the best first-year crops we've had in many years," says league president Clarence Campbell. "Our teams have come up with the best talent in the minors. I expect Chicago, in particular, to be helped by its rookies and six other new players picked up since the end of last season."

The Black Hawks, who finished fifth last season, acquired Earl Balfour, who had 27 goals for Rochester, of the American League, and Howie Glover, a 58-goal scorer with Winnipeg, of the Western League.

The Hawks had the largest personnel turnover in the league. In addition to their rookies, they also obtained Dillard St. Laurent from Montreal; Danny Lewicki and Jack Evans, from New York; Al Arbour, from Detroit; and Tod Sloan, from Toronto. Ken Wharram, who was in the league a couple of years ago, was brought up from Buffalo of the American League.

One of the most talked-about first-year men is Charlie Burns, a centre making a good impression on Detroit Red Wings' management. Burns was a member of the Whitby, Ont., team which won the world amateur title in Oslo, Norway, last season. Gerry Ehman is another highly-regarded Detroit youngster. He scored 40 goals for Springfield of the American League. Len Lunde, a centre, and Claude Laforge, a forward, also are seeking berths with Wings.

The champion Montreal Canadiens have spiced their veteran outfit with three newcomers—Ab McDonald, Al Langlois and Ralph Backstrom.

New York Rangers' rookies include forwards Eddie Shack, Les Colwill from Saskatoon, Earl Ingarfield from Winnipeg and Jim Bartlett along with defencemen John Hanna. Toronto's lone first-year man is Carl Brewer, up from the Toronto Marlboro juniors. Shack and Backstrom are given the best chance of winning the Calder Trophy as rookie of the year.

IN EVERY WAY SO BEAUTIFULLY RIGHT

Beauty queen of the hardtops—the new Fairlane 500 Town Victoria.

Ford's new flat roof line is as practical as it's beautiful, provides added headroom for back-seat passengers. Trim lines and tasteful styling are the trademark of the 59 Ford.

SHORT STROKE

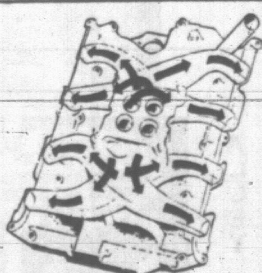

LONG STROKE

FORD

Short Stroke Design cuts engine-wearing, power-wasting friction for longer engine life with gas savings up to 10%. Ford V-8 and 6 cylinder engines are both short stroke design. In fact, Ford and only Ford builds a true short stroke 6 cylinder engine in Canada.

The coil springs of Ford's front suspension are angled forward and the lower control arms are swept back so that the wheels can move up and back when they strike a bump. They "roll with the punch" . . . absorb shock far better than a suspension that only moves in one direction.

The Expressway Intake Manifold on Ford V-8's delivers fuel to each cylinder by the shortest, most direct route for smooth, even power without waste. In other V-8's, fuel must travel through long, winding passageways, so some cylinders get too much gas, others too little.

This is the car designed to meet every kind of driving need today. And it does. Beautifully.

The new Ford, completely restyled for 59, has a clean, crisp look with dignity and good taste in every line. There isn't an ounce of waste fat on it. Yet there's room enough inside for the whole family to travel in big car ease and comfort . . . comfort that just starts with the foam-cushioned front seats (they're standard in all Fords).

Power? Ford's come up with just the right combination of pep and economy in a thrifty Six and two Thunderbird V-8's. For 59, standard engines, both Six and V-8, run on regular gas—save you up to five cents per gallon! And now Ford gives you a standard oil filter so efficient that oil changes are 4,000 miles apart.

That's just the beginning of the new Ford story. In addition to proven Cruise-O-Matic Drive there's a new Fordomatic Drive, quiet, smooth, economical because it's lighter, simpler and has 1/2 fewer parts. The new Blendaire heater blends warm and cool air to give you the exact temperature you want, instantly, regardless of car speed.

As a matter of fact, Ford's new right down to the muffler. It's made of aluminized steel to resist corrosion, last up to twice as long.

There are 17 handsome new Fords to choose from and they're priced Ford-low. See your Dealer and take a discovery drive. In every way, you'll find the new Ford is beautifully right for you.

ANNIE'S RUNNING BETTER THIS YEAR. FIBERT MIGHT GET CAUGHT— I HOPE.

BEHIND THE OIL DRUMS— SHE'LL NEVER FIND ME THERE.

THIS IS DOC BASIL METABOLISM, QUAY. HE'S GOING TO MAKE YOU WELL...

HOWDY QUAY! I BROUGHT YOU AN ICE CREAM CONE... IT'S BUTTERSCOTCH, I THINK...

YESSIRREE!! A TOUCH OF THIS CASTOR OIL WILL FIX YOU UP. JUST FINE...

HMM... IT IS BUTTERSCOTCH.

HOW CAN YOU HELP? THERE'S NO REASONING WITH FLINT, AND JUST THE SIGHT OF HIM IS FRIGHTENING.

FORGET FLINT— WE'LL GO RIGHT TO ALEXANDER!

BUT THAT'S IMPOSSIBLE! THERE ARE GUARDS ALL OVER THE PLACE, AND...

LEAVE IT TO ME, DOLL.

I DON'T UNDERSTAND WHY YOU'RE SO CONFIDENT... I JUST HAD AN UGLY THOUGHT—HOW DO I KNOW YOU'RE NOT IN WITH ALEXANDER?

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions be selected to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

What Makes A Wood Fire Crackle?

Smoke and blazing flames breathe combines with fuel stream up from the burning wood. Sparks shoot out and sometimes the merry fire crackles like miniature gunfire. The tree took many years to grow the log. Yet the fire is soon over and nothing is left but a handful of ashes. Many of Andy's readers have asked whether fire is animal, mineral or vegetable. Actually it is none of these things. Fire is a chemical reaction and the smoke, sparks, flames and crackles are all part of this process.

The same chemical reaction takes place in all burning processes. Substances in the fuel combine with oxygen. Hence we call the burning process oxidation. Oxidation may be rapid, as in the burning fire. It may be slow, as in the rusting of iron. In any case, fuel substances are combining with oxygen. Oxidation takes place in your body. The oxygen you out of the little pocket with a pop and a crackle.

Most of the crackling of a wood fire comes from plant resins. This is why pine logs crackle the most. However most wood will crackle some as it burns. For volatile substances are present in all woods to a degree. Certain coals also contain these substances.

A machine gun crackle from the burning grate is actually a series of little explosions. Wood and even coal contain tiny pores too small for our eyes to see. These are the little pockets where the gases get trapped. When they become hot, they explode and give us the pleasant crackle from our pretty fire.

Andy sends a 'Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Ann Griggs, age 14, of Winston-Salem, N.C., for her question:

To what family does the gnu belong?

The gnu is a very odd looking animal. You might mistake him for a mule wearing a buffalo head. His cloven feet might belong to a stag. Indeed, he does belong to the deer clan. And, of all things, he is classed with the graceful gazelle.

Mr. Gnu, pronounced noo, is also called the wildebeest and, for all his clumsy appearance, he is a very fast runner. He has to be, for he must outrun his hungry enemies. He dwells in the lion country of Africa.

Several varieties of gnu roam the African plains. They are the black gnu, the blue gnu and the brindled gnu. Together they are classed in the genus Connochaetes—the bearded-maned ones. And the Connochaetes genus is a division of Gazella, the antelope family.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Myrna Rode, aged 12, of St. Catharines, Ont., for the question:

Hot Gases Burst Free

Wood, however, contains other substances besides cellulose. Pine logs contain resin and some resins are very volatile. When hot they tend to become gaseous and expand. These gases get trapped in pockets within the wood. When heated in the fire they must expand, but there is no place to go, no room. So a tiny pocket of gas bursts its prison walls. It breaks

Night Loiterer Pays $35 Fine

A Work Point soldier who pleaded guilty in Esquimalt police court Monday to loitering by night was fined $35 by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Clifford W. Cooper was charged with visiting or loitering at the property of Alan Thirkell, 621 Constance at 12.20 a.m. Oct. 13.

Police said Mrs. Thirkell saw the accused looking through a window. Police were called and chased Cooper, catching him nearby.

Maria Callas Wins Toronto Plaudits

TORONTO (CP)—Singer Maria Meneghini Callas made her Toronto debut Tuesday night in a concert that drew a crowd of 6,000.

The famed singer was here for a one-night performance.

Music critic John Kraglund of The Globe and Mail said Miss Callas' performance "left no illusion that she is vocally the greatest soprano of our day."

"She is unquestionably the greatest singing actress we have yet encountered."

Star critic Hugh Thomson said:

"There's no question the character of her voice is dramatic and that she handles works of intensity, such as mad scenes, supremely well."

YOUNG ARTISTS SHOW TONIGHT

Two Saskatchewan artists will perform at a Young Artists series concert of the Registered Music Teachers' Association at Holyrood House tonight at 8.30.

Andrew Dawes, violinist, will play a Sonata Baroque by Canadian composer, Murray Adaskin, while Douglas Voice will play three Chopin compositions.

The two musicians are both from Saskatoon.

The program also will include music from Bach, Ravel, Saint-Saens and Tommaso Vitali.

A (Don't Miss) AA (Oscar Class) BB (Worthwhile) C (To put in time)

(A PLUS) "ME AND THE COLONEL" (Royal): In France of 1940, when the Nazis are in the outskirts of Paris, fate, caused by war, throws two Poles together who are as far apart socially and mentally as though their names were North and South.

One, Samuel Jacobowsky, is a Jew who has been fleeing persecution all his life, his sad ambition being to find a country who will adopt him, then leave him alone to live in peace. The other is proud Polish colonel Curt Jurgens, a man of noble birth who wouldn't soil his horse by riding over peasants. Certainly he wouldn't let his horse breathe the same air as a Jew.

But in spite of his hatreds and his disdain the colonel finds Jacobowsky becoming more and more important to his remaining alive and fulfilling his mission for the Allies. It is Jacobowsky who commandeers the last car in Paris, ferrets out the almost non-existent gasoline, who out-talks and out-thinks the enemy on every occasion. Then, when Jacobowsky is finally captured it is the colonel who comes to the rescue, a mad man, a man willing to die for his best friend—Jacobowsky, the Jew.

THE TRANSITION of Jurgens from a pompous puppet, a man who never established contact with the world and reality, to one who is keenly aware of humanity, is a fine bit of business, being the soul of "Me and the Colonel." But, as Jacobowsky, Danny Kaye shines boldly forth as an actor of merit who resorts to none of the double-talk, rubbery-faced, rubbery-legged antics for which he is famous.

His hair made a middle-aged grey for the occasion and sporting a moustache, he is the very picture of a seedy-looking refugee on the run. Yet, thanks to the lines from Franz Werfel's play, "Jacobowsky and the Colonel," there falls from his lips the quaint wisdom and philosophy of the old world, the sounds of a man hungering for love and affection, a home and, above all, peace so he might have the time to do what he would with his life.

Kaye has never been seen to better advantage. It is conceivable that this should be regarded as his best work for the films. Nicole Maurey, as the girl caught between Jacobowsky and the colonel is also good, as is Akim Tamiroff as the colonel's aide.

Symphony to Find Some Way to Play For City Students

Victoria Symphony Orchestra will play for grade seven and eight students next spring "one way or another," society president Jack Barracough said today after a setback to the plan.

Greater Victoria school board Monday night decided it could not provide the $2,000 required to transport the 3,000 children to a series of symphony concerts. It also refused to permit collection of the bus fares from students.

"Perhaps the municipal councils or PTA groups will be willing to help meet the transportation cost," Mr. Barracough said. "We still intend to present the concerts and I'm sure some solution will be found."

Pope's Diary Causes Storm; Under Seal, Vatican Says

ROME (Reuters)—Nephews of the late Pope Pius XII today denied a Communist newspaper report that diaries the Pontiff kept for 40 years had disappeared from his apartments in Vatican City.

Unita, organ of the Italian Communist party, alleged the diaries were in the possession of one of the Pope's close acquaintances or a member of the West German Embassy.

The Pope's nephew, Prince Carlo Pacelli, counsellor general of the Vatican, told a reporter: "I know nothing about this foolish affair or the existence of any diaries."

Another nephew, Prince Marcantonio Pacelli, described Unita's story as "an invention from A to Z."

Vatican sources last week said the Pontiff's diaries, written in a form of shorthand which he invented himself, were placed under seal by his cardinals when he died October 9.

His successor will have to decide what to do with the diaries. They may contain a full account of his visions and if they can be deciphered would provide important testimony if attempts are made to canonize him as a saint.

Ancient Indian Whistles Found in Museum's Attic

By HUMPHRY DAVY

The Provincial Museum has a collection of old Indian whistles which would rouse the envy of the Pied Piper of Hamelin, sportsmen, naturalists and all lovers of the outdoors.

The whistles, hundreds in number, can be used to imitate nearly all the sounds of animals and birds of British Columbia.

Stored for years in the attic of the museum, the collection was brought to light by Mike Kew, provincial anthropologist.

It is an amazing collection. The "pipes" of all sizes and shapes—long and thin, flat and short, some more than 100 years old. One type almost completely fits into the mouth.

LIKE BAGPIPES

The oddest whistles are those equipped with bellows. Henry Hunt, assistant carver to Chief Mungo Martin at Thunderbird Park, who has some knowledge of Indian whistles, was invited by Mr. Kew to give a demonstration of their use.

The results were almost unbelievable. One whistle imitated perfectly the plaintive cry of the seagull.

Finders Keepers? Not in Case Of Missing Tarp

The case of two missing American tarpaulins solved itself when the pair, valued at $300, was turned over to Central Saanich police Monday evening.

A Yakima, Wash., trucker reported the tarps, measuring 24 by 26 feet each, stolen from a roadside where he delivered a trailerload of baled hay Saturday noon.

Police said Monday whoever took them could be charged with theft or possession under the Criminal Code or with possession of undeclared goods under the Customs Act, all serious offences.

The finders, Gilbert Post and his nephew, of 2945 Dysart, told police they had seen the tarps at the roadside near the gate to property of Dick Mutrie, Mount Newton Cross Road, and thought they had fallen from a truck.

Loading them into their station wagon, they took them home to await an advertisement of their loss, they said.

When they saw a Times story indicating serious charges could be laid, they went directly to the police station.

WORMS

MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms or Round-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of these ugly pests, they must be killed in the intestines where they live and multiply. And clinical tests have proved that JAYNE'S LIQUID VERMIFUGE kills both Pin-Worms and Round-Worms—quickly and easily. Then they are expelled from the system in a normal manner and you are free of them.

JAYNE'S LIQUID VERMIFUGE has a pleasant, fruity taste. Children love it—take it without fuss or fret. Remember, Pin-Worms and Round-Worms are highly contagious and can spread through the whole family.

So, at the first sign of worms, be sure to ask your druggist for JAYNE'S LIQUID VERMIFUGE.

Saanich to Buy Lakeshore Land If City Balks

Saanich may go ahead on its own and buy all undeveloped privately-owned property on the west side of Elk Lake for recreational purposes.

Reeve George Chatterton today said refusal of the city to share costs of purchasing the lakeshore property would not stop Saanich from seeking the means of buying the land.

There are about five lots involved. Purchase of the land would place all property on the west side of the lake under public ownership.

Saanich asked the city to share the purchase cost, but it refused on the grounds that the land was situated outside the boundaries of Victoria.

The reeve said council felt the land is essential for the proper development of Elk Lake as a recreational area.

"These lots should be bought without delay," he said. "The parks committee has been asked to find means of acquiring the land."

Seasonal Employment Slide Begins

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian employment began its yearly seasonal downturn in September, but the number of jobless looking for work fell off slightly from August.

September employment was lower, and unemployment higher, than a year earlier according to the federal government's monthly job survey released Tuesday.

Number of persons without jobs and looking for work at Sept. 20 was estimated by the bureau of statistics at 271,000, down 10,000 in a month but 74,000 higher than a year earlier. In addition, there were 14,000 persons on temporary layoff, compared with 37,000 in August. Total employed at Sept. 20 stood at 5,888,000, against 6,025,000 in August and 5,939,000 in September, 1957.

Appointment to the staff of the director of Naval Photography at headquarters in Ottawa has been announced for Acting Commissioned Officer (SB) G. E. Salter. A recent graduate of the RCN Preparatory School at HMCS Naden, Commissioned Officer Salter is now attending divisional officers' training course at HMCS Cornwallis, Digby, N.S.

BRIDGE OFFER INVITED BY PREMIER

An invitation to Greater Vancouver municipalities to submit an offer for purchase of Lions Gate Bridge, was issued by Premier W. A. C. Bennett today.

A Vancouver newspaper had suggested, if the municipalities banded together to buy the bridge, the toll income could probably pay for a second crossing of First Narrows.

"I'd like to see that offer in black and white," commented the premier.

He stipulated, if the offer was to be of interest it must stipulate there would be no increase in tolls, and that tolls would be removed completely the day "We take the tolls off the Second Narrows bridge".

EDUCATION CONVENTION

Island Catholics to Attend Talks

Delegates from Roman Catholic parishes on Vancouver Island will join others from the rest of the province at the eighth annual convention of the B.C. Catholic Education Association Sunday in Vancouver.

The association was formed at the instigation of the archbishop to seek justice in the matter of minority rights in education, and works under his direction.

Victoria College Visioned As Teachers' School Again

Victoria College may revert again to a training centre for Vancouver Island teachers if plans for a new university at Gordon Head mature.

Public Works Minister W. N. Chant today suggested if a new university is built, "these buildings could well serve the purpose of augmenting present college of education facilities."

Prior to establishment of the College of Education at UBC, a provincial normal school was located at Victoria College.

Teachers seeking a degree in education now must complete their four-year course at UBC, Vancouver. A branch of the college, if located here, would serve would-be teachers from Island centres.

Nine Killed in Bus

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Nine passengers in a bus were killed and 43 severely injured when a train crashed into it today at a level crossing in the town of Hittipola.

"There is an ever-increasing demand for more room for training teachers. It is inevitable the demand will continue," said Mr. Chant.

"It is quite noticeable public opinion supports gaining of full university status for Victoria College. As far as I am concerned, I support this and will continue to do so and work toward it." Mr. Chant is concerned as MLA for Victoria and head of the government department responsible for college building.

ALL-NIGHT CAROUSING ENDS FAIR

BRUSSELS (Reuters)—Thousands danced and drank till dawn Monday in a final fling bringing the Brussels World's Fair to a close. Police estimated that more than 1,000,000 gathered Sunday night to see the close of the six-month fair. Today a convoy of trucks moved into the 500-acre fairgrounds to start dismantling the exhibits.

Shuttle Bus Runs for Solarium Opening

A half-mile shuttle bus service will get visitors to and from Queen Alexandra Solarium and their cars when the new hospital is officially opened Saturday at 2:30 p.m.

Five thousand invitations have been issued to Solarium donors to attend the ceremonies, and hundreds of other interested citizens are expected to be there. To cope with the anticipated traffic problem, Solarium officials and Saanich police have planned that all visitors and invited guests park at Camp Gordon Head on Finnerty Road.

Buses will take them from there to the hospital below Arbutus overlooking the waterfront at Haro Strait. The service will be continuous and free of charge.

Police request that motorists approach and leave Camp Gordon Head by way of Finnerty and Cedar Hill Crossroad rather than Arbutus and Finnerty because regular traffic and buses are expected to tax Arbutus to the limit.

Drivers are asked to be at the car parking area by 2 p.m. Jan. 1.

Ross and a staff of nine men will direct parking.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

Traffic signals will be installed at Hillside and Shelbourne as soon as money is available, city public works committee was told Tuesday. Victoria Labor Council, which requested the installation, will be informed that the intersection is fourth on the priority list for signals.

William E. Greenwood was fined $50 when he appeared in city police court Tuesday charged with theft of sweaters from Hudson's Bay Co. two weeks ago.

"I wouldn't make the same mistakes again," he told Magistrate H. C. Hall.

"Well, it's not the first time, and if you don't leave alcohol alone you'll be in more serious trouble," the court warned.

A public supper meeting of the Garden City United Church Men's Service Club will be held tonight at 6 in the church hall, Carey Road.

Purchase of two lots on the northwest corner of Hillside and Cedar Hill for $10,000 was recommended by city public works committee Tuesday so that the corner could be widened to improve traffic conditions.

An amendment to the Smoke Bylaw exempting garden incinerators from a $5 installation permit fee was recommended today by city public works committee. New types of garden incinerators now on sale here are capable of burning solid fuels and therefore, at present, the permit is required, committee was told.

Trustees R. H. Reeve, William Gelling and R. H. Smith were appointed Monday night to represent the Greater Victoria school board at a meeting with city council representatives Oct. 29 to discuss a dispute over the city's intention to sell several lots reserved for school purposes 14 years ago that have not been developed. The meeting will be held in department of education offices.

A new lighting system is being installed along the entire length of Esquimalt Road.

Esquimalt municipal engineer John Graeme said today that 19 of the new mercury vapor street lights already have been installed at the shopping centre at Head St. intersection and at "dangerous curves" at Macaulay and Dominion.

"The lights produce four times the amount of illumination," he said, "for the same amount of wattage as the incandescent bulbs and do not glare."

SECOND SETBACK FOR MURDER TRIAL

Three Cases Delayed By Lawyer's Illness

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

The wheels of justice ground to a halt today as Criminal Assize Court faced at least a two-week delay in hearing three important cases.

Delay was caused by sudden illness of Alan Macfarlane, defence counsel for Mrs. Alice L. Kerr, North Pender Island, charged with the gunshot slaying of her husband Albert on Aug. 10.

The trial was previously delayed due to the death of Mrs. Kerr's former counsel, Hugh Botterell.

Mr. Macfarlane took over Mr. Botterell's brief, but has been ordered into St. Joseph's Hospital for a complete rest, a member of his staff said today.

He will be in hospital at least two weeks.

A hospital official said today Mr. Macfarlane's condition is "fair," and that he had a good night.

The Assize Court session is expected to last at least two weeks longer in consequence of his illness.

NOVEMBER 10

A courthouse official said it is now hoped to start the Kerr murder trial on Monday, November 10.

Another murder trial involving 16-year-old Matthew John Till will be given a preliminary hearing in RCMP court next Monday, Oct. 27, and if completed will open in Assize Court directly following the Kerr case.

Till will be charged with murdering his foster father, Charles Mudge, 38, who was beaten and shot to death at his home at 3460 Metcalfe, Sept. 13.

His father-in-law John Brand also was killed and Mrs. Mudge was assaulted.

On Monday, Nov. 3, the As-

AT 3 CHURCHES

Faith Healer Back Here In November

Dr. Christopher Woodard, the physician-faith healer who came to Victoria last February to see if he could help Dr. Anne Steel, will visit the city again next month.

The physician tried through prayer to cure the 38-year-old woman doctor who has been in a coma at the Royal Jubilee Hospital since May, 1956, following a riding accident at Osoyoos, B.C.

Dr. Woodard, who believes that faith and the power of prayer will cure "incurable diseases," is on a Fellowship of Christian Healing tour. He is accompanied by his wife.

THREE DAYS

He will arrive here on Nov. 7 and will speak at St. John's Church, St. Andrew's Presbyterian and First United Church during a three-day stay.

Mrs. Woodard will address a women's meeting at the Metropolitan Church on Friday, Nov. 7.

When Dr. Woodard last visited Victoria, the sick and the well clamored to hear him speak. He held daily prayers for Dr. Steel and conducted a "laying of hands" communion service in St. John's Church.

Dr. Woodard is a member of the Royal College of Surgeons, a licentiate member of the Royal College of Physicians and a fellow of the Royal Society.

After the First World War, he specialized in orthopaedic surgery and then in the soft tissue injuries of athletes, setting up an athlete's clinic which has helped many prominent sportsmen.

He believes that no illness is hopeless. Faith and prayer, he claims, can cure people where science has failed.

BEWARE if you find dynamite similar to sticks held by Saanich municipal yard foreman Harry Berthel. Police seek stray sticks from a 40-stick cache found Monday night—enough high powder dynamite to toss a heavy truck across a wide street. (Times Photo.)

Dynamite Warning Sounded by Police

Saanich police canvassed five schools Tuesday after a 40-stick cache of high explosive was found by a 12-year-old boy beneath a foot bridge near McKenzie School.

No additional sticks of dynamite were located, juvenile officer Harry Adams said.

The public—school children especially—was warned today not to handle any sticks which may be found, and to report any find to police.

80 PER CENT

The dynamite, described as 80 per cent Forcite which is used normally for heavy construction blasting, was discovered by Michael Thompson, 535 Tait, as he played Monday night.

It lay partly in water and partly on the bank of a creek which runs across the foot of the 600 block McKenzie.

Dozens of children cross the bridge in both directions daily.

Police were unable to account for how the explosive came to be there.

Rock blaster Arthur Winters said: "We don't use anything that powerful around Victoria."

THURSDAY MEETINGS

Rotary: 12:10 p.m., Empress Hotel. Civil engineer Val Gwyther speaks on "Solution to the Problem of Fish and Power."

Oak Bay Kiwanis: 6:15 p.m., Oak Bay Beach Hotel. Film on the "Georgia Generating Station."

Capital Region Branch, Community Planning Association: 8 p.m., Business and Professional Women's clubrooms.

Sons of England Benefit Society, Alexander Lodge: 8 p.m., Williams Hall, 749 Broughton.

Recent attempts at safe cracking in the Victoria area suggested the explosive may have been part of a quantity from which safe-blowing explosive could be extracted by crackers.

Police emphasized their warning to children who may find more of the dynamite and save it for Halloween.

If tossed into a bonfire, for example, the explosive could be extremely dangerous.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Could you please tell me why sockeye salmon is not sold on the fresh-fish market, even at the peak of the run? R.A.

A. A spokesman for a large fishing company says fresh sockeye can be bought in stores during the season, but there is very little demand for it. "It has always been regarded as a strictly cannery operation," he said. Sockeye is perfectly good if cooked fresh, but is exceptionally suitable for canning.

Q. Where was Canada's first paper mill? S.S.T.

A. In Lachine, Quebec. It was established in 1803 and produced writing, wrapping and printing paper from rags. This was the start of the pulp and paper industry which today accounts for one dollar in eight of incomes of all Canadians.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Last Saturday morning the minister sat down and tape-recorded five, 15-minute broadcasts for use each morning through the following weeks. (He works three weeks ahead.)

On Sunday morning the attendance at his Sunday school was 926. There are a lot of "formal" churches which could profit from his way with youngsters, which combines a breezy informality with really dedicated hard work.

After the broadcast, Gag-

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

Rev. Gaglardi on the Air

KAMLOOPS — Phil Gaglardi gets a lot of kidding about his roads and his "Sorry" signs. But nobody that I have met here faults him on his church work.

People who disagree violently with Gaglardi's politics say: "He's doing great work in this town, particularly with his Sunday school."

"He's a sincere evangelist."

Doug Frizzell of Baza Bay and I bumped into Gaglardi at supper Sunday night and he invited us over to his Calvary Temple to hear the "Fireside Hour" on the radio. The Temple is the gleaming, modernistic church which was opened with such fanfare a few months ago, at a reputed cost of $150,000.

With just four minutes to air time, the breezy minister said: "C'mon down and I'll show you the basement." He pointed with pride to the Sunday school cubicles with "perimeter seating" (so that all the kids face the teacher and can't act up); the large "prayer room"; tiled kitchen and thermostatic furnace.

With a few seconds to spare, Phil was on the red-carpeted stage of his church for the "Fireside Hour." A radio-control man gave him his cue from a booth in a side wall.

Behind the pulpit, which had two microphones, was a choir of 18 voices, singing in front of a proscenium arch of inlaid wood. On one side a girl in a red nylon coat played a Hammond-type organ and at the other, a blonde youngster in evening dress played a grand piano.

It struck me as evangelical "formula" music of the type you hear from Billy Graham and Ernest Manning—very resolute, soothing, and in a sense, hypnotic. The boys and girls (one of them a young Gaglardi) sang very well.

There was organ music behind the brief prayers and sermon of the pastor, who introduced himself simply as "P. A. Gaglardi." A major surprise: to me, was to hear the minister boom out a solo hymn, "Peace of the World," in a rich, strong voice which seemed to be a cross between tenor and baritone.

TAKE A LITTER . . .

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Daniel La Porte, New Westminster, was fined $25 and $6.50 costs when he pleaded guilty in Colwood RCMP court Tuesday to a charge of causing a public disturbance by being drunk at Belmont Park.

Ward Five, Liberal Association will hold court whist drives each Saturday afternoon and a monthly bingo, as part of a winter social program. Regular ward meetings are held on the first Thursday of each month at Liberal Headquarters, Government Street.

John R. A. Batcheller, 408 Goldstream, was fined $15 in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to having 18 bottles of beer in Beacon Hill Park.

Silver Threads Handicraft Club will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday in the CCF Hall, Courtney Street.

Plans are progressing for the annual pre-Christmas sale and tea, to be held in the Knights of Pythias Hall, Cormorant Street, Nov. 13.

Theft of a dozen pens brought a six-month jail term for a Saanich man in city police court today.

J. Scouler, 931 Inverness, was found guilty of stealing a carton of pens valued at $23.40 from Diggon's store at Government and Johnson, on Sept. 24.

Magistrate H. C. Hall noted a previous conviction for a similar offence of theft under $50 value last February, at which time "I imposed a very minor penalty" in view of a 10-year present city restrictions on store hours — does not go into effect until Thursday when council gives it final reading. The present bylaw prohibits night opening after 6 p.m.

Ald. M. H. Mooney said Mr. Mallek's "big stunt was an open violation of our present law for his own benefit and I don't think he was showing good citizenship."

"But I don't think he should be prosecuted because that might make him a martyr and it's probably what he wanted."

Police Chief John Blackstock said he did not think the store would be prosecuted.

conviction-free record.

"You didn't appreciate it. You just slipped back," the magistrate said.

An approaching police car flicked its headlights twice, but Sturdee E. Arden, 1233 Goldstream, didn't take the hint.

He was fined $10 in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to dim his car headlights.

This thief made his bid for a piece of machinery a little too late to suit the owners.

Since a recent auction of heavy machinery at Crowe Gonnason lumber mill—one of the largest in local history—an electric motor valued at $100 and a compressor unit were stolen from the mill yard, police were told Tuesday.

Nick Pope, 1250 Johnson, laid his $13 on the line at a downtown beer parlor Tuesday night and bought a 1939 sedan from a companion.

When he went out to drive his new acquisition home, it was gone, police were told.

He said it had been parked at Government and Cormorant between 6 and 6:30 p.m.

At 9:05 p.m. Pope told police he had located the car at the rear of 646 Gorge, the home of Gordon Bulmer, who sold Pope the car.

Police discovered Bulmer's wife, in whose name the car was registered, saw it parked on the street near the beer parlor and drove it away without knowing Pope was the new owner.

fiat to prosecute the Vancouver Symphony Society for a concert performance last Sunday to which a detective and a policewoman bought tickets.

Under the federal Lord's Day Act, a fiat—legal permission from the attorney-general is required before prosecution can be launched.

UP TO A-G

Mr. Higgins, asked if his group would request a fiat to prosecute the Victoria society, said:

"I'm just saying that we will oppose the concert. We don't enforce the act. It's not our job. Enforcement is up to the attorney-general."

He added that the Lord's Day Alliance sub-committee will hold a meeting soon but declined to say whether a request for a fiat would be discussed.

He said he had no objection to a Sunday concert if it was free.

STORES NEXT?

"But if they hold concerts for money on Sunday, what is to prevent theatres from opening on Sunday? If the theatres are allowed to do it, what is to prevent stores from opening on Sunday?"

"These are the wider implications of the symphony concert and it could lead to disrespect for the Lord's Day Act."

Mr. Barraclough countered that "most people agree good music is one of the best ways to observe the Lord's Day."

He said if the Lord's Day Alliance wanted to force people into other activities on Sunday, their opposition "is the way to do it."

BACKWARD STEP

"If they try to stop the concerts, it would be a backward step and I don't think for one minute they would try to do it."

The Nov. 9 concert will feature Montreal violinist Betty-Jean Hagen playing a concerto by Mendelssohn. Shostakovich's fifth symphony also will be performed.

Sputnik III and its carrier rocket will make three passes over Victoria skies Thursday morning, Dominion Astrophysical Observatory officials said today.

The satellite will arrive at 3:54 a.m., crossing from north to northeast, moderately high, and again at 5:40 a.m., when it will go from northwest to southwest, moderately high.

The carrier rocket will make a single crossing at 4:07 a.m., moderately high in the south.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Gift Items Suggested For Friends Overseas

By PENNY SAVER

It's hardly too early to start shopping for overseas Christmas gifts. Mailing date for parcels is Nov. 22, and for cards and letters, surface mail, Nov. 25.

It's sometimes difficult to think of suitable little gifts that are easy to pack and not too heavy, so I shopped around and found a few ideas.

There's a novelty clothes brush that works on the principle of a miniature vacuum cleaner, powered by two ordinary flashlight batteries (torch batteries of course). Suction cleans the dirt right away instead of spreading it to other parts of the garment.

The brushes, at $2.50, have other uses, such as dusting, or taking crumbs off a table cloth. Handy for keeping in the pocket of the car, too!

Another useful gift item is a folding plastic hanger and clothes brush combination. Tortoiseshell plastic handles hook together to hold the hanger in place. Folded as a clothes brush, strong nylon bristles do a good job of whisking lint off clothes. Price is only $1.

For the baby in the family, there's a little music box, Canadian made, that plays soft, soothing music such as Brahms Lullaby — charming company for the little one in the nursery, to hang on the side of the crib. Price is $4.50 — and they really do soothe a crying baby!

Dainty little girls love a bit of jewelry and I saw some lovely pieces at very reasonable prices. Tiny sterling silver lockets on silver chains cost $2 and up. Sterling silver bracelets, and little hair clips, sell for as low as $1. For the young master, there is a wee military hair brush with rosewood backing, that sells at $2.75.

Very reasonable at just $1 are items in a special gift display: There's a miniature address book, with index, for milady's purse; a tiny pen and pencil set; an extendable key chain and several other attractive purse accessories.

Sweater grips for cardigans would be a useful gift for a friend in England, where lack of central heating makes a sweater a must in almost all houses! These attractively designed clips, priced from $1 up, hold a cardigan neatly when it's worn casually over the shoulders.

More gift suggestions later. Meantime, if you'd like to begin your overseas gift shopping in good time, phone me at EV 2-3131 to find out where I shopped for items mentioned in today's column.

On Etiquette

Heart attack changes plans: I need help in a hurry. Two days after invitations were mailed for our wedding, my father had a heart attack while on a business trip. He is still in the hospital and mother is with him, but the doctor thinks he can be brought home soon. After several long distance calls, it

Louise Davis was decided to go ahead with the church ceremony, but disperse with the breakfast and reception. I can easily get in touch with those invited to the breakfast, for we had invited a very small number to it, but how can we cancel invitations to the reception? I have 10 days time.

Louise Davis answers: You won't have time to order engraved cancellations, so I suggest two alternatives. 1. charge accounts invited

With as many assistants as you can gather, phone those on the list to say that the reception has been cancelled because of your father's illness, but that the marriage service will take place as planned. You would write brief notes at once to those living out of town, or you could send telegrams. 2. Perhaps you can get a printer to rush an order. If so, the wording could go something like this: "Owing to the illness of Mr. Joseph Hopkins, the wedding reception for his daughter, Beatrice, and Mr. Charles Bruce must necessarily be cancelled, but the wedding at St. Joseph's Church will take place as originally planned."

A Success — Members of Daughters of St. George, No. 238, held a successful bazaar in the Hudson's Bay Douglas Room. District deputy, Mrs. M. Harris opened the affair and guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. I. Watson. In charge of stalls were Mrs. N. Sladden and Mrs. I. Stevenson, home cooking; Mrs. Buckingham, candy; Mrs. H. Thorpe, Mrs. A. Green and Mrs. E. Mason, fancy work. Tea tables were in charge of Mrs. G. Chinn, assisted by Mrs. S. Hemm, Mrs. M. Raines, Mrs. B. Wakeford, Mrs. E. Cownden and Miss H. Currie and tickets and tombolas were handled by Mrs. R. Carness and Mrs. D. Peck.

New Members — Four new members were elected at a recent meeting of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club. They are Mrs. Lillias (Blackie) Pepler, Mrs. Marian Larcombe, Mrs. Ethel Bevan and Mrs. R. D. (Margaret) Harvey. Miss Lily Henderson presided and the business meeting concluded with an entertaining talk by Mrs. Eve Goodman who used the title "Believe It or Not," in relating authentic ghost stories originating in the British Isles.

Funds For Hall — At a card party held recently in Fulford Coffee Bar on Salt Spring Island, a sum of $23 was raised for Fulford Hall funds. Mrs. W. Patterson and Mrs. R. Patterson were co-hostesses and 12 tables of five hundred or crib were in play. Bob Patterson was the master of ceremonies and winners were as follows: Five Hundred: Mrs. J. A. Silvester, Mrs. John Hall, A. MacMannus, Sr., and W. Shaw; Crib: Mrs. G. Cunningham and A. H. Roddis.

New Officers — South Salt Spring Island Women's Institute, at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. D. Slingsby, Fulford Harbor, elected the following officers: President, Mrs. R. Lee; first vice-president, Mrs. J. Campbell; second, Mrs. Ferguson Reid; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. M. Gyves; board member, Mrs. Slingsby. Mrs. Lee presided and plans were made for two card parties, one at Fulford Coffee Bar on Nov. 1 with proceeds for the Fulford Hall fund and another for children's Christmas treats. A chicken dinner contest will be held at the first party. Meeting hostess was Mrs. H. Townsend.

Chancel Guild — Six tables of bridge were in play, at a party in the parish hall at Ganges, Salt Spring Island, sponsored by St. Mark's Chancel Guild. It is planned to hold three more parties, Nov. 14, Nov. 28 and Dec. 12. Anyone wishing to participate must telephone Mrs. J. R. Sturdy at Ganges.

DEAR ABBY...

No Fuss—But Plenty of Bother!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We play bridge with our next door neighbors and for an evening snack we agreed not to fuss. Just to serve coffee and doughnuts. That's what I served. When we went to her house she served chicken salad sandwiches and coffee and brownies. The next time at my house I served coffee and doughnuts. When it was her turn again she served ham sandwiches, fruit salad, coffee and ice cream. I told my husband I didn't care if she served porterhouse steak, I am only going to have coffee and doughnuts. And they don't have any more money than we do. Please tell me if I am doing right?

PLAIN PEOPLE.

DEAR PLAIN: If you agreed to serve only coffee and doughnuts, serve coffee and doughnuts.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is about religion. My father won't let me accept a date with a boy who is not of my own faith. I am 16 years old, Abby, but I think I have pretty good sense. I wouldn't turn away from my own religion for any boy, but how can I convince my father that just because I have a few dates with a boy of a different faith it doesn't mean I am going to marry him?

VOTED DOWN.

DEAR VOTED: As long as you feel strongly about your own religion, why tempt the fates and complicate your life? Do yourself a favor and confine your dates to boys you could marry should Cupid's dart prematurely find your heart.

DEAR ABBY: My husband works as night electrician at a hospital. A few months ago a woman who works in the laundry started to do his wash for him so he wouldn't have to bring it home for me to do it. I told my sister about it and she said, "No woman is doing a man's wash just because she likes to wash." I got mad and said I thought it was very nice of her to do it. I asked a few other friends what they thought about it and they changed the subject. My husband is 44 and most women at the hospital are much younger than he is so they wouldn't go for a man his age. He told me so. Should I make him bring his wash home or not?

WONDERING. DEAR WONDERING: A married man (age 44) should not give a co-worker the shirt off his back—even if she offers to launder it for him. Quit asking your friends and relatives what they think about it and short-circuit the connection between your hubby and the laundry lady—pronto!

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you want a collection of Abby's best letters and answers in one book, ask your bookdealer to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

Nets $3,400 for Institutes

More than 7,000 Centennial Cook Books published by Women's Institutes of British Columbia, have been sold to date, it was reported at morning session of the annual provincial board meeting of Women's Institutes in the superintendent's office, at the Parliament Building, today.

In her financial statement, Mrs. R. Doe announced that net proceeds from sale of books has reached $3,414.76. Balance in the general fund stands at $2,929.10.

Mrs. Stella Gummow, retiring superintendent, and president, Mrs. J. O. Decker, welcomed board members, who then heard a talk by deputy minister of agriculture, William MacGillivray, on agriculture in British Columbia today.

Following luncheon, reports were heard from the superintendent, the president and board members.

Provincial projects, including a bursary in agriculture, a home economics scholarship, entries in exhibitions and competitions, were discussed.

Meetings continue Thursday and Friday, when resolutions will be presented and tentative plans discussed for a women's institute gathering in British Columbia in 1960.

Miss Echoe Lidster, supervisor of 4-H Club work in the province, is attending the meetings as an observer.

During the three-day gathering board members will be guests of local institutes at social gatherings, including the 21st anniversary banquet of Craigflower Institute, and a tea at Lake Hill Institute.

Newlyweds Plan Mainland Home

Aldergrove, B.C., will be the future home of newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis F. Deboice, who were married at an evening ceremony in the Protestant Chapel, HMCS Naden, recently.

The bride is the former Mary Jane Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Hansen, of Victoria, and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. J. Deboice, of Calgary.

Arrangements of chrysanthemums decorated the chapel for the ceremony performed by Padre Todd.

For her wedding the bride wore a floor-length gown of white lace and satin, fashioned with very full hooped skirt. With it she wore a finger-tip veil and carried a bouquet of red roses and white stephanotis.

As matron of honor Mrs. Isobel Knox wore a gown of pale blue lace with matching headpiece, and bridesmaid Miss Peggy Hansen was in a similar gown of pink net and lace with matching headpiece. Both carried bouquets of chrysanthemums en tone.

Bill Egeland was best man, and Fred McFadden ushered. Padre Todd proposed the toast to the bride at a reception in Gorge Vale Golf Club.

As the couple left later on a wedding trip to the Mainland, the bride wore an Oxford grey suit with red accessories and red rosebuds en corsage.

POINTED TOES IN DAYTIME SHOES—OUT

VIGEVANO, Italy (AP)—Italy's leading shoemakers are abandoning the pointed toe style on women's shoes, at least for daytime wear.

That appeared to be the big news Sunday at the 22nd International Shoe Exhibition in this north Italian shoemaking centre.

Party and evening shoes will retain narrow points, but footwear for everyday use is more rounded in the toes.

Give Bursary To Sea Cadet

In a Trafalgar Day ceremony for Royal Canadian Rainbow Sea Cadet Corps, members of Navy League Chapter, IODE, presented a bursary of $100 to Leading Sea Cadet John Foreshaw, Cayuga Division.

This bursary, which has been awarded annually for the past three years, is part of a $500 bequest left by a late member, Mrs. Godfrey Booth, to further the education of a cadet chosen for his outstanding work both at school and in the corps.

Led by standard bearer Mrs. Gladys Painter, IODE members marched on the quarterdeck between divisions of Sea Cadets to the dais, where Lt.-Cmdr. T. A. Dando introduced them.

In awarding the bursary educational secretary Mrs. C. E. B. Rea said: "With so many fine lads to choose from, I think I'd pull a name out of a hat."

She went on to say that "as a patriotic organization, we'd like to see you join the service; but whatever you do—God bless you!"

Gift Presented To Traveller

Mrs. A. Syrett, who is leaving shortly on a trip abroad, was presented with a gift by the president, Mrs. D. Swan, at meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary, Britannia Branch, No. 7, Canadian Legion, BESL.

Mrs. Swan presided and two new members were initiated. Mrs. E. Corby and Mrs. T. Cummings. Visitors welcomed were Mrs. R. Hannay and Mrs. J. Butts.

Reports showed 269 veterans were visited in hospitals on on Legion Day. It was announced that anyone wishing to tag on Nov. 8 must contact Mrs. D. McCulloch, EV 4-7427.

Plans were completed for the provincial ladies auxiliaries executive meeting here on Friday and it was decided that due to Remembrance Day the next meeting of the group will be held on Nov. 13.

YWCA Plans Recruiting Drives for Staff Help

TORONTO (CP)—The Young Women's Christian Association is planning recruiting drives in Central and Western Canada, the organization's annual report says.

The report, presented to 140 delegates at the YWCA annual meeting Tuesday, said the organization is short of staff and help is needed from throughout Canada to fill personnel posts.

The recruiting drive will be based on a successful pilot project conducted with various church groups in cities in the Atlantic provinces. More than 700 persons interested in working full-time on Christian education were found.

The report also said a special committee is trying to raise $100,000 in the next three years to extend YWCA work and recruit and train personnel.

Members of the YWCA must make their groups vital and interesting to attract lively workers, national YWCA president Mrs. Ryrie Smith told the delegates.

"One of the greatest riches of our democratic way of life is the wealth of volunteer service given in our communities. None of us would want to live in a country without volunteer organizations, and every Canadian woman has some obligation to contribute something to her community."

"But she has many fields from which to choose; if we can show her the vitality and importance of our work, we can"

Therapy Helps Aged to New Way of Life

Occupational therapy, a means to new living for the elderly was subject of a recent address given by Mrs. J. M. Finnis to members of the Silver Threads-Volunteer Visiting Corps.

A former occupational therapist at the Veterans' Hospital, Mrs. Finnis, dealt with the problems of the aged who are physically ill, those who are disturbed and those who are simply in a state of declining health.

Each of these groups, she pointed out, can be assisted to a happier way of life by learning self-care, household chores, hobbies and crafts. These occupations, though simple in themselves, bring to the elderly person a sense of achievement and usefulness.

The discussion period which followed was led by Mrs. F. Cox, chairman of the group.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many Mental Breakdowns Might Have Been Prevented

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

While attending the World Federation for Mental Health in Vienna, Austria, I had the pleasure of visiting with the distinguished Doctor George S. Stevenson, Treasurer of the Federation, National and International Consultant, National Association for Mental Health, New York City.

This question of mental health and emotional stability is important to all of us. It is important because of the tragedy of real mental derangement to the victim and his family and also because many of these cases could have been avoided had the pressures not been building up, without help, for so long before the breakdown. Sometimes the tensions are too great if an individual does not know how to handle them.

Mental health is also crucial to every man and woman because we could all improve our outlook for a more constructive and happier daily life. It is of paramount importance in the question of health.

It is now well-known that many illnesses and physical disabilities come from frustrations, tensions and worries. One can almost believe that it would be impossible for the truly happy person, the one without any strains and stresses, to become ill.

But of course that state is impossible for anyone who cares about anything or anybody. However, it is not so much our problems which get us as the manner in which we meet them, adjust to them or handle them. Everyone has problems!

I told Doctor Stevenson that of course I know there is no simple formula for mental health but asked him if he could give me any leads to pass on to you. Here are some of them.

Don't get in a rut. In other words expand your horizons, your interests. Otherwise boredom will get you, and when that happens you may be in danger of emotional and physical disturbances.

Work within your capacity. I think that Doctor Stevenson meant that we should not push ourselves beyond our physical or mental capabilities. Some persons set their sights too high and this leads to frustration, dissatisfaction and fatigue. Don't work up to capacity — leave yourself some margin.

Next he mentioned the cultural differences of people. He did not elaborate on this in detail but I am sure that one thing he meant was that we are apt to get caught up in our environment and forget that it may not be natural to us or best for us in all of its parts. We just take the whole thing for granted.

For instance, you may be musically inclined though you are in a non-musical family. Therefore, there is a void in your life. You don't have to run off and leave your husband and children to study to be a concert pianist. But you can bring music into your life in a small way. You can listen to good music and even take some voice lessons. You certainly can fulfill your musical need without any conflict.

Doctor Stevenson mentioned the fact that most people need some characteristics of cultures and societies other than the one they find themselves in. He mentioned the Mexican "La Manana" or tomorrow. This phrase is a reflection of the relaxed manner in which the Mexicans live. It really means: "I won't do it today but will do it tomorrow." It may mean that it will never be done!

I am convinced that many women become caught in the trap of constant activity and responsibility, and men, too, when they really would not choose it and could avoid at least some of it. Some persons require more time alone, and a slower pace for best emotional and mental health.

Last, the maintenance of health is essential because our physical condition has an impact on our emotional conditions.

Tips for the Housewife

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — A professional personnel interviewer took a look at married life here and produced some tips for the housewife.

Mrs. Ruth Hancock of Waterloo, Ont., gave this advice: "Don't be a moaner. Everybody has problems, so try to master your own."

"Don't get in a flap when you entertain. It should be fun, not a nightmare. If you are too emotionally upset and exhausted to enjoy yourself when the time comes, take stock, girls—there's something wrong with you."

Mrs. Hancock added these words for the harassed housewife:

"Don't try to keep up with the Joneses. If you can't afford to live in that special district, don't preach to the old man that everybody you know is moving there."

"Do give your husband plenty of attention even if the children sap your time and energy."

"If you want to work when the children are no longer dependent on you, go ahead; you'll be less frustrated."

"In marriage, it takes two people facing their problems together realistically, with a sense of humor, using sympathy, thoughtfulness and above all a down-to-earth mutual love."

Grubby Hands Spoils Teen Look

The teenager who spends hours on her hair-and-make-up but neglects her hands labels herself as careless and sloppy. For hands are one of the first things many people notice. And therefore, rough skin, broken and grubby-nails-or-chipped-nail polish are all unattractive attention-getters.

The best way to make sure that your hands always look their best is to set aside one hour each week for your manicure. This is the time to strip off the old polish and apply new, to file your nails with an emery board, to push back the cuticle. Each night, before you go to bed, cream your hands and your elbows thoroughly.

This care is enough to keep your hands looking pretty through the week. Daily use of both an orange stick and a nail brush to keep the nails clean is essential, of course.

LEG CARE

Shorter skirts focus attention on your legs this season. This means that your legs rate extra-special care.

They need careful and frequent shaving with an electric razor about twice a week. They need nightly creaming with a liquid body lotion after your shower or bath. Use a pumice stone on those rough spots on your heels since the new colored-hose help to rivet glances to your feet and ankles, too.

And though skirts are shorter yours should never be so short that they ride up over your knees when you seated. To say that skirts are 17 inches this season is silly if you haven't 17 inches of leg length.

So have your skirt lengths adjusted to your body proportion. That way, you'll look graceful and pretty, not ridiculous.

YOUR HAIR

Now that the neat and tidy head with a polished look has replaced tousled curls, it's time to wield the hairbrush with vigor. It's one of the best beauty aids a girl has at any time.

Other helps to having a head of thick, lustrous hair are cod liver oil capsules, a couple of envelopes of gelatin a day and a terry towel after a shampoo rather than a hot dryer.

To achieve beautiful hair, you must tackle the problem from inside and out.

TCA Accused Of Favoring Some Routes

Low Fares Charged
In Competitive Areas

OTTAWA (CP)—An American aviation consultant says Trans-Canada Air Lines discriminates in its fares and charges less only where the publicly-owned monopoly is challenged by competition.

"TCA has tended to charge less and to offer better service over competitive routes than over its routes across Canada," Frederic Kimball of Westport, Conn., told the air transport board Tuesday.

He spoke on behalf of Canadian Pacific Airlines which is seeking a Vancouver-to-Montreal franchise, breaking the TCA transcontinental monopoly. TCA counsel John G. Edison said he would accept neither the validity of Mr. Kimball's hefty book of tables nor the conclusions drawn from them.

NEW BUSINESS

Mr. Kimball said also that if CPA got its franchise, it would drum up a lot of new business, mostly in the tourist-class field bypassed by TCA. This would tend to provide passengers with a saving on fares and give them speedier service with little detriment to TCA.

CPA would get two-thirds of its passenger revenue from new business and only about one-third from passengers diverted from TCA. TCA would lose only about four per cent of its expanding business.

"Passenger traffic which CPA might divert from TCA in 1959, would be equivalent to slightly more than four per cent of the amount which TCA might otherwise expect to carry in that year," he said.

TCA's passenger revenue might increase—with its monopoly intact—by about 15 per cent next year to some $114,250,000. With a franchise, CPA might only pick up about $4,000,000 of this amount.

WOULD STILL INCREASE

And even if CPA got all of its proposed business from TCA passengers, TCA would still show a small increase of about three-fifths of one per cent, Mr. Kimball added.

His other main points:

1. TCA had not attracted its "full share" of transcontinental trans-border passenger traffic.
2. Its huge business—about 1,000,000,000 passenger miles a year—was sufficient to convince him TCA was ready for competition.
3. Canada's need for speedy transportation was too great to be shouldered solely by a monopoly, "however benevolent."

City Crews Start Work on Reshaping Oak Bay Junction

City crews are starting to re-vamp the Oak Bay junction to make the complex intersection safer.

Sidewalk corners will be altered to bring the intersection closer to a square pattern.

The McDonald Building's first floor, on the southeast corner of the intersection, will be made into an arcade with the sidewalk moved back about eight feet.

This will give motorists traveling east on Fort a view of traffic on Oak Bay Avenue.

Traffic signals will be installed over each of the lanes leading into the intersection, replacing the present single set of traffic signals suspended in the centre of the intersection.

Overall cost of the project is about $7,000.

Red Tape Charged In Rooming House Regulations Here

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow told public works committee Tuesday that the registration plan for rooming houses has caused complaints.

He said several rooming house operators have phoned him to say "things have become tougher than ever."

Under the plan, present rooming house operators were allowed to register at City Hall so that, in future, they could make minor alterations without having to meet the full requirements of more stringent regulations adopted by council recently.

City engineer James Garnett said two rooming house operators that have seen him in the past week indicated they were happy with the situation.

But he agreed to look into the complaints of increased red tape in altering rooming houses reported by Ald. Edgelow.

The Golden Gate bridge at San Francisco, longest single span in the world, stretches 4,200 feet.

AN "INSIDE" SPECIAL

And just in time for putting in that rumpus or extra bedroom the basement. Kiln Dried Spruce Paneling in 1st and 2nd widths—recessed. Ten Edge gives a modern, attractive appearance. Spruce Paneling is the whitest wood type that doesn't darken—preferred by most people ahead of Pine—takes lot of hard wear in a boy's room.
This is a shipment of No. 1 quality but due to a slight imperfection in manufacture (which can easily be sanded out) the price is drastically reduced to:

Per 100 RM ..... $16.50
Spec. length, 100 RM ..... $17.50
Then to go with that there's 100 quality Spruce Shelves—clear grade—kiln dried—attractive and easy to work.

City Students Got Big Thrill At UN Seminar

Central Junior High School PTA met Tuesday night in the school.

This advertisement is not published or displayed by the Liquor Control Board or by the Government of British Columbia.

IT TAKES THE
CHRISTIE'S
THE QUALITY BISCUIT

Pure cocoa from the plantations of West Africa . . . plump, sun-ripened raisins from the distant shores of Australia . . . these are only two of the specially-imported ingredients that make Christie's the biscuits you'll serve with pride.

CHRISTIE, BROWN AND COMPANY, LIMITED

This week—be sure to try Oreo and Sultanas by Christie's.

DEEP-SEA SHIPS IN PORT

Victoria — Irish Spruce, Aghios Nicolaos, Alessandra Volta.
Crofton — King Malcolm, Marburg.
Cowichan Bay — British Monarch.
Harmac — Kirribilli, Tahsis — Korsholma.
Alberni — Mostun, Fernpoint, Besseggen, Friesland, Commerz, Elg Lakemba.

Researchers Study Ways To Save Sand

PARKSVILLE — Research is under way into methods of counteracting disappearance of sand from Vancouver Island beaches, a recreation and conservation department engineer told the Chamber of Commerce here.

One system is through construction of groins, or low breakwaters extending outward at right angles to the shoreline, but it is expensive, he said.

Chamber members said rocks and barnacles are appearing on the beach here because of loss of the sand cover.

PUBLIC MEETINGS PLANNED

Jordon to Fight Fluoridation Bid

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—The mayor and one alderman will work against fluoridation of city water when the issue is presented to the electors Dec. 11.

A bylaw to authorize a referendum on the issue was introduced Monday, with Mayor Loran Jordon and Ald. W. C. Hamilton stating they will do their best to defeat it.

Ald. Hamilton said the referendum is basically undemocratic and therefore dangerous.

"It is asking one section of the people to force something on others," he said.

PUBLIC MEETINGS

City clerk H. D. Thain said he had worded the bylaw to permit tenant-electors as well as owner-electors the opportunity of voting.

During discussion, Ald. Hamilton said he will arrange public meetings for the purpose of informing voters on the matter. He invited aldermen who favor fluoridation to speak at the meetings.

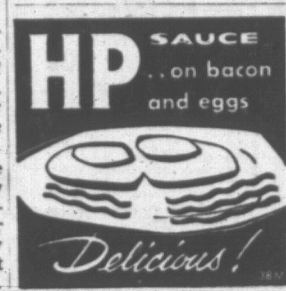

Ald. Jack Perry, who said he would do his best not to allow fluoridation to become an election issue, said the matter should be the responsibility of the provincial government rather than municipal councils.

'Magic Nugget' Plays Tuesday

CHEMAMINUS — Chemainus PTA will sponsor the Holiday Theatre's performance of "The Magic Nugget" in the high school auditorium Tuesday.

The play was written especially for the centennial year by Miss Poppy McKenzie of Vancouver.

HIGH SPEED BLAMED IN DEATH OF AIRMAN

COURTENAY (CP)—High speed and adverse driving conditions were blamed Tuesday night by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Winnipeg airman David Read, 24, attached to nearby Comox RCAF base.

Read died instantly when his car smashed broadside into a power pole just outside Comox Oct. 17.

Dr. James Lunan said death was caused by a massive skull fracture.

Read was to have been married Nov. 6.

VANCOUVER ISLAND ROUNDUP

Police Officer Grounded After Crashing Two Cars

PORT ALBERNI — The RCMP detachment here has two cars down and none to go.

And the constable responsible for cracking up the two vehicles isn't being allowed to drive the detachment's temporarily "borrowed" patrol car.

Two weeks to the day after Constable Robert Clarke ran into a wall while travelling to an accident, he was involved in a collision with another vehicle.

In the first smash, the constable suffered a broken nose and cut knee. In the second one, Mrs. A. Romanchuk, who was in the other car, was taken to hospital with slight abrasions, treated, and released. Constable Clarke was not hurt.

He was checking on a speeding car when the accident took place.

Head of the detachment, Sgt. William West, said RCMP in Victoria were sending an officer to investigate.

PORT ALBERNI — Owner of the Loggers' Poolroom here, Roderick Popovich, died in West Coast General Hospital Sunday.

A native of Yugoslavia, he had lived here 20 years.

The funeral was at 3 p.m. today with Rev. Glen Stevenson officiating.

Ratepayers of School District 66 (Lake Cowichan) will vote Nov. 15 to see if they favor incorporation of the district as a hospital improvement district.

If favorable, the Lake Cowichan district likely will take part in building of a new 165-bed hospital at Duncan to serve the entire area.

C. R. Eldred, Cobble Hill, has been appointed returning officer.

Voting will be at Honeycomb Bay School, Yount School at Youbou, Mesachie Lake School, Mayo School at Paldi, and the Old Lake Cowichan Elementary School.

NANAIMO — A short nap aboard his commercial fishing vessel cost owner George Kaakinen a $100 fine Monday.

He admitted fishing within set boundaries and said his boat had drifted while he was asleep.

The accused had received a warning previously for a similar offence.

NANAIMO — About 20 women's organizations here will present their own solutions on the best method to curb sale of liquor to minors.

The move, suggested by Mrs. Hugh Heath, wife of a Nanaimo lawyer, would assist the Provincial Council of Women investigating the situation.

CHEMAMINUS — The Legion Ladies' Auxiliary has named Nov. 6 "Poppy Day" in Chemainus.

Convener is Mrs. O. Reid. Districts have been assigned to canvassers and street sales will start at 9:30 a.m.

Donations were made to the Veterans' Hospital in Victoria and the Youth Training Program.

The auxiliary will assist the branch in staging the annual Halloween party for Chemainus and district children. The party will be held in the legion's large hall Halloween night.

For the First Time Ever...
Sheets That Need No Ironing

just wash them... dry them... use them!

Imagine—fine cotton sheets and pillow cases that you don't have to iron! Yet they will look and feel and stay delightfully fresh and smooth! All because of the no-iron finish developed exclusively by Pequot. This finish also controls shrinkage—and actually makes the sheets softer, smoother, and whiter, the more they're washed. Wash Pequot E.Z. Care sheets and cases any way you like, dry indoors or outdoors, fold, smooth, and they'll be ready for use.

Check these outstanding features:

- Wash any way, sheets are actually smoother, softer, whiter after repeated washings.
- Bleach will not harm or yellow these sheets.
- Dry any way, they dry faster too.
- Smooth, then fold.

'PLASTIC SATELLITE' TO BE FIRED TONIGHT

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first attempt to put an inflated plastic satellite into orbit will be made tonight, the U.S. Army announced today.

Maj.-Gen. John B. Medaris said the sphere will be hurled into the air late tonight from Cape Canaveral, Fla. He gave no further details.

The inflated aluminum foil and plastic film balloon-like satellite will be sent aloft in a modified Jupiter-C rocket. It will be inflated automatically with nitrogen when hundreds of miles above the earth.

U.S. WRITER'S VIEW ON CHINA

Ironmongers In Backyards

This is the fifth of a series of articles by NEA correspondent John Strohm on his tour of Communist China.

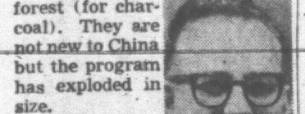

By JOHN STROHM

NEW YORK—Almost everywhere you go in Red China your nostrils are assailed by a sulphurous smoke that reminds you of Gary or East Chicago.

Red China is out to make the "great leap forward" in steel production by twin programs, one old, one new.

In farmyards, on school playgrounds, college campuses and vacant lots, the belching vest-pocket blast furnaces of the old way polka-dot the landscape with smears of smoke. And those who stoke them with hand-crushed ore, coal and limestone are the farmer and his wife, the school children and college kids.

This did America produce pig iron in the mid-1800s on myriad "plantations" close to the land (for ore) and the forest (for charcoal). They are not new to China, but the program has exploded in size.

Strohm

I must have seen more than 1,000 of these furnaces during my tour of Mao's domain. They range from three feet to 30 feet high, their output from 100 pounds to 100 tons daily.

Red China's economists reasoned thusly: to save transport, take the furnace to the raw materials and only move the pig iron to the factory. The iron pigs are fed to the great new rolling mills like those I saw at Hankow and Anchan.

But Red China is by no means betting on its backyard ironmongers. At Anchan I visited a sprawling mill where 100,000 workers making an average of $32 a month turn out one-third of China's iron and steel.

They mine their own ore, get nearby coal and make pig iron, steel, iron rails, steel beams and seamless tubing.

A tiny trousered woman was jockeying one electro-magnetic crane that lifts 40 tons of steel rails and stacks them as lightly as chopsticks.

One of the chief engineers of this plant gestured with satisfaction at the smoke-plumed stacks. "The Japanese," he said, "sneered that the Chinese don't know how to run factories and will probably start growing sorghum here."

'Saboteurs' Derail Train

METHUEN, Mass. (AP)—A track switch opened by vandals or saboteurs sent a Boston and Maine Railroad train hurtling into two standing freight cars Tuesday night.

Nineteen of the 47 persons aboard the passenger train were injured, none severely.

TORONTO (CP)—Violent reaction here has followed the statement of Victoria school trustee Richard Reeve, who said observance of Remembrance Day is "hypocrisy."

Mr. Reeve opposed his board when it approved the distribution in schools of Remembrance

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 110,000-member B.C. Federation of Labor today voted by a ratio of 5 to 1 to demand immediate removal of J. Edwin Eades as chairman of the workmen's compensation board.

Delegates to the federation convention in Vancouver demanded his dismissal despite his plain speech Tuesday calling for an investigation of workmen's compensation.

John Squire, M.L.A., Port Alberni, led several delegates in opposing the resolution.

19-YR.-OLD BEAUTY

Marriage Mooted For Peter

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Friends of Group Capt. Peter Townsend said today Townsend may marry pretty Belgian photographer Marie-Luce Jagagne, 19-year-old daughter of a Belgian cigarette magnate.

Rumors of a romance between Marie-Luce and Princess Margaret's former suitor flew last week when first published by the Paris weekly France-Dimanche.

In New Delhi today, members of the documentary film unit making a movie of Townsend's world tour said they thought the couple would marry in Hong Kong.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Another milestone in the development of electric power for Vancouver Island's homes and industry was passed today when officials gathered here for a ceremony to mark the energizing of the Upper Campbell Lake power unit of the Strathcona Development.

It marked the end of 12 years of construction and brought into use the water of famous Buttle Lake at the head of the storage basin.

Premier Bennett pushed a button to give an official start to the flow of 42,000 horsepower from the new station into the B.C. Power Commission's Vancouver Island system, bringing the total production of power by the commission on Vancouver Island to 400,000 horsepower.

Producing units are John Hart generating station, 168,000 horsepower; Ladore, 70,000 (eventually 105,000); Somass, 35,000; Georgia gas generating station, 50,000 (eventually 100,000); Puntledge, 35,000.

Third and Final Step

The ceremony today ended the third and final step in the harnessing of the power of the Campbell River system. The Strathcona development alone cost $30,000,000.

Premier Bennett's action channelled to public usage the force of 27,000,000 cubic feet of water, penned up behind an earthen dam 170 feet high.

The entire power system was explored today by some 250 guests from all parts of the Island. Many had travelled north from Victoria with officials representing the commission, the government and the municipalities.

Following ceremonies, they were to board cars or if weather permitted, airplanes, for a low-level tour of Buttle Lake. There was to be a celebration dinner tonight at Campbell River.

The Campbell River project began with completion of the John Hart dam development in 1947. The Ladore storage dam and power station followed 10 years later.

To date, $75,000,000 has been invested. The final project joins the Upper Campbell and Buttle Lakes into one huge reservoir. The total electrical production by the river eventually will reach 350,000-horsepower—the largest single source of B.C. Power Commission generation.

Bitter Battles Fought

The project had its share of the growth of Campbell River village, where hundreds of workmen made their homes, then threatened its economy when the work ended.

But it also attracted other industry and will attract more, not only for Campbell River, but all over the Island where Power Commission transmission lines lead. (Except for the area south of a point near Duncan, the BCPC serves everyone who uses electrical power.)

Today, the development is complete. There will be additional installations to increase horsepower as new demands are made.

The commission proposes to produce another 35,000 from Kokish River and is conducting surveys of the Nimpkish, Gold and Ucona Rivers.

Hanna Ordered Out

OTTAWA (CP)—Christian George Hanna, 24-year-old stateless stowaway granted permission to live in Canada last year, has been ordered deported by the immigration department, it was announced today.

The result, they added, leaves little hope for any new approach to a solution of the problems presented by the latest Chinese Communist military and diplomatic assaults.

Dulles probably will return to Washington with few if any concrete results from his Taipei mission, the sources said.

U.K. Airliner Hits Italian Jet; 30 Killed

No Survivors On Viscount

NETTUNO, Italy (Reuters) — A British European Airways Viscount and an Italian jet fighter collided today, killing all 30 persons aboard the airliner.

The collision of the four-engined turbo-prop Viscount and the Italian air force F-86 Sabre jet took place over this little fishing port 30 miles south of Rome.

The airliner carried 25 passengers and a crew of five.

The Italian fighter pilot parachuted safely.

Both the Viscount and the jet fighter crashed between Nettuno and the nearby port of Anzio where Allied forces landed in the Second World War.

The Viscount had taken off from London airport at 8.25 a.m. this morning on its way to Malta by way of Naples.

The collision occurred at 1 p.m. local time. It took place in bad flying weather shortly before the Viscount was due to land in Naples.

Wreckage of the Viscount was found in a wide arc 10 miles southeast of Anzio. One of the first persons on the scene was an Italian army chaplain, who gave absolution to the shattered bodies.

A police official at Nettuno said that after the collision "there was a terrific explosion."

"The British airliner blew up. Everyone on board must have been killed instantly. The wreckage came streaming down in a shower. The biggest piece was not more than a yard long."

"The pilot of the fighter managed to parachute out of his plane immediately and the plane went on flying for a short distance before plunging downwards."

SCATTERS WRECKAGE

The collision, four miles above the ground, scattered wreckage for more than a mile near this village.

The airliner's dead included Jane Buckingham, London model who has pictured actress Eva Bartok as trying to take over an Indian prince "who is mine."

The prince, 27-year-old Shiv of Palitana, is in Naples and Miss Buckingham, 22, presumably was en route there to try to patch things up.

THREE IN DISASTER

In London, the tabloid Daily Sketch said three of its staffers were among the passengers in today's disaster.

They were identified as photographer Brian Fogarty, reporter Lee Benson and 25-year-old Miss Patricia Watson. All were on assignment to interview Prince Shiv.

Police reported finding be-

longings of the victims as far as two miles from the place where the plane smashed into the earth.

Within three hours, Italian police had recovered all 30 bodies.

The shattered British plane crashed into an Italian artillery testing ground and only about 200 yards from an explosives dump.

Cosimo Baggialemani, 33, who was picking mushrooms, said he heard an explosion.

Looking up, he saw flames and then bits of wreckage fell around him.

'Low-Key Comedy' Asserts Bonner

Proposed move of Sons of Freedom Doukhobors from the interior of B.C. back to Russia was "up in the air" today following failure of the group to meet a government-assistance deadline on filing emigration applications.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said if the Douks still wanted to leave, they would have "to start from scratch" in moves for government assistance.

At the same time it was announced in Ottawa that Justice Minister Davie Fulton would make an announcement later today on the federal government's stand in the matter.

If the Sons of Freedom wish to start again, they likely will have to provide assurance from the Soviet Union that they would be accepted there.

This was the situation on the Doukhobors at noon today.

A delegation representing the sect met with Attorney-General Robert Bonner, Peter Elasoff, William Podosenko and Vancouver lawyer Harry Rankin

BAKER OR BRIGADIER —WHO'S UPPER CRUST?

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bakery delivery man Donald M. Clark is wondering if it is his job that has put him in Canada's upper crust.

He received a letter Tuesday telling him he is listed in the Social Register of Canada.

Clark's route is in the Shaughnessy Heights district, which includes the homes of the city's most prominent citizens.

But Mr. Clark thinks it must be a mistake. He said: "There was a Brigadier Donald M. Clark in the Canadian Army. Maybe they got us confused."

Brig. Clark, a Vancouver barrister and police commission member, declined to say whether he had received a similar letter.

Dulles, Chiang Disagree; Parley Termed Failure

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Major disagreements have developed during the talks between Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and President Chiang Kai-Shek, American and Nationalist Chinese sources said today.

The result, they added, leaves little hope for any new approach to a solution of the problems presented by the latest Chinese Communist military and diplomatic assaults.

Dulles probably will return to Washington with few if any concrete results from his Taipei mission, the sources said.

The Nationalist government considered, but dropped, plans to issue a communique tonight after four meetings between Dulles and Chiang — two working sessions and two formal dinner gatherings.

Foreign minister officials here would say only that the two men "had an exchange of views on problems of mutual concern."

The Americans called two news conferences in an attempt to emphasize the smooth progress of the talks, but disclosed only one accomplishment—a re-statement of the established U.S. policy to provide naval escorts for Nationalist supply ships to Quemoy if required.

The Nationalists held no news conferences.

Well-informed sources said Dulles asked Chiang to trim the size of his half-million-man army and the generalissimo refused.

The U.S. also held off any promises of more weapons requested by Chiang, the sources said.

People and Things

CHICAGO—Edward Puidk, 42, Tuesday came to terms—his wife's—and saved their marriage.

Mrs. Stephanie Puidk, 42, told Judge Thaddeus Adesko she would not sue her husband, a paper hanger, for divorce if he promised to:

Go to church every Sunday, turn over his pay to her, commit no act of mental or physical cruelty, not lose his temper, not use foul language in front of her or their two children, have more patience, permit her to have guests as often as she wishes and to be courteous to them, buy no more cars without her consent and to join her in seeing a minister if marital trouble arises.

Puidk scanned the commandments and then signed up.

ALBION, Ind. — A 32-year-old amateur magician who managed the Noble County Credit Union for 10 years surrendered on an embezzlement charge Tuesday. A source close to the investigation said a shortage of $1,300,000 may be recovered.

Arnold G. Hobbs, a 250-pound flashy dresser, posted $25,000 bond and was released for arraignment Monday.

LONDON — The House of Lords opened its carved oaken doors to women Tuesday for the first time in history.

And almost at once, the first two women installed as lifetime peeresses dismayed the assembled aristocrats. They refused to take off their hats.

They said they didn't want to mess up their hair.

Other 400-year-old traditions were swept aside as Stella Lady Reading and Barbara Wootton, now lifetime baronesses, took their seats with about 100 black-suited men in the house of "lords and ladies."

Baroness Wootton, 60-year-old socialist economist, declined as a non-believer to take the customary oath of allegiance on the Bible to the Queen. Instead, she made a solemn declaration of allegiance to the sovereign.

Clare Chubb Funeral Set For Friday

Clare Norman Chubb, 66, former manager of the Hudson's Bay Company department store here, died Tuesday at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Funeral services will be held at Sands Memorial Chapel of Chimes on Friday at 3 p.m. Rev. A. I. Higgins will officiate.

Mr. Chubb came to Victoria in 1944 and managed the company store until his retirement in January this year.

MOST TRAVELLED

Born in Guelph, Ont., Mr. Chubb was regarded as the company's most travelled executive. He made frequent buying trips to the Orient and Europe.

He was a former director of the Victoria Symphony Society and a member of the Union Club.

Mr. Chubb joined the company 30 years ago as a buyer in the Edmonton store, and later served in the Winnipeg and Vancouver stores.

He was merchandise executive at the Calgary store until 1937, when he was made manager of the company's store at Saskatoon. He took charge of the Edmonton store in 1941, remaining until his appointment to Victoria.

In Edmonton, he was well known for his activities in the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, the Red Cross Society and Community Chest.

He is survived by the widow, Clara, 3440 Upper Terrace; a son, E. C. (Ted) Chubb, Nanaimo, and daughter, Mrs. A. Nelson, Vancouver.

HE WANTED FIRE TRUCK ALL HIS OWN

NANAIMO—City council rejected an offer from George Croft of Burnaby to purchase a venerable city fire truck for $200.

He had told council it had always been his ambition to own a fire engine.

Ald. P. J. Piper said it should be preserved as part of the city's history, but Ald. Ed Blackburn, who favored seeking a higher bid on the truck, said "we've got enough relics around here now."

2-Hour Park Limit Farce

Ald. Elmer McEwen Tuesday described two-hour parking limits as a "farce intended only for those who scare easily."

He made the comment as city public works committee decided against reducing all parking limits in the city to one hour until it had studied an overall traffic and parking plan to be presented next month.

"It is meaningless to have a policeman on a motorcycle with a stick marking all cars in a parking zone," said Ald. McEwen. "And it belittles his position."

Ald. Arthur Dowell and Ald. M. H. Moorhead at last council meeting called for one-hour parking only. They said two-hour limits enable persons to occupy the same space all day by merely moving their cars a few feet once or twice a day.

B.C. Labor Plans Drive For Gov't Car Insurance

VANCOUVER (CP) — The 110,000-member British Columbia Federation of Labor will push its campaign for government auto insurance in B.C.

The federation's annual convention Tuesday adopted an 11-page report which declared the need for a Crown corporation to handle auto insurance "on the Saskatchewan principle."

Labor's campaign will point up "the haphazard method of the pink-slip law of B.C."

A special committee headed by Ed O'Connor of the B.C. Government Employees Association summed up its check into the Saskatchewan plan this way: "In the case of the Saskatchewan act, the principle is the insurance against the social hazards that are created by automobile accidents."

"In the case of B.C., it is insurance to protect the parties who may be involved in an accident created by an automobile owner or driver."

There are two major selling points for government auto insurance, the committee said. It appears much cheaper and, if the Saskatchewan plan is copied, compensation is paid in every case, without regard to who is at fault in an accident.

Saskatchewan government insurance offers a basic plan with collision, third-party liability, fire and theft, comprehensive, and personal injury coverage, the report said.

For those who desire more coverage, an extra premium charge brings a package policy extending bodily injury, property damage and passenger-hazard liabilities.

Cadillac

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Motordom's New Measurement of Greatness!

The Canadian motorist has long since adopted his own personal technique for judging the year's automotive offerings.

He simply looks to the new Cadillac car to discover motordom's fullest measure of all that is new and good and wonderful.

And never before has Cadillac placed such an exacting standard on the world's motor cars as it has for 1959.

For the new "car of cars" has introduced a whole new concept of what an automobile can do and be... and how it should look and act.

To the eye alone, it is a revelation. Elegant, majestic, substantial, poised—it has brought a new magic and splendor to the world of motion.

Its Fleetwood interiors are miracles of advanced design. Appointments are beautiful beyond imagination... and its fabrics and leathers are unbelievably luxurious.

The 1959 Cadillac is equally inspiring from behind the wheel. Its spectacular new engine, its advanced transmission and its new ease of ride and handling make a journey at its wheel the most glorious distance between any two points... a truly rewarding experience.

These Cadillac advancements have been interpreted in thirteen distinctive body styles—including a new Eldorado Brougham.

So if you contemplate the purchase of any motor car in the coming year, you owe yourself an early visit with this newest of Cadillacs.

Sixty minutes in the showroom and on the highway will give you a full understanding of the new way to measure greatness in a motor car.

Reeve Defends Zoning Bylaw

Reeve George Chatterton said today an over-all bylaw to restrict large subdivisions to certain districts in Saanich would in no way halt the servicing and development of rural areas in the municipality.

The bylaw has been completed by Saanich town planner Tony Parr and will be submitted to council in the near future.

The reeve, answering criticisms from a Prospect Lake group that the bylaw would be detrimental to rural areas, said the plan to control subdivisions to certain zones would have the opposite effect on people living in outlying districts.

COMPLEMENTARY

"There need be no conflict between the rural and urban areas of Saanich," he said. "Each part needs the other to create a whole where people may freely choose the surroundings in which they prefer to live."

The bylaw, he said, would curb the rising tax rate in all areas of Saanich.

It would also enable Saanich to increase and improve services in both rural and urban areas.

Under the present setup, he said, there were no areas safe from a high tax rate.

"A subdivision can spring up in a rural area, forcing the tax rate up on householders in the district," he said. "The high expenses in servicing the subdivision also have to be borne by all residents of the municipality."

The reeve said the bylaw was misunderstood by some people as a "freeze order" on rural development.

"This is not the case," he said, adding, "I am prepared to discuss the problem with any group."

Poll Oct. 29 On Jaycee Rink Project

Victorians will decide whether they want a new ice surface next to Memorial Arena.

Jaycees, who are committed to over 15 per cent of the cost, will conduct a public opinion poll from 7 p.m. to midnight Oct. 29.

Stewart Hagar, director of the project, said that "between 20 and 24 persons" will be manning the phones asking people first, if they are in favor of a rink, and second, do they approve of a public appeal for funds.

Jaycees would do no calling, he said, Victorians would be asked to phone in their opinions.

Cost of the building, which will measure 195 by 100 feet, is estimated at $145,000, including 15 per cent contingency for rising wages and costs during construction.

"We will have prepared a brochure on the project," said Mr. Hagar, "which will be sent to anyone phoning in and asking for it."

'STERN MEASURES' SUGGESTED FOR BADLY-DRESSED STUDENTS

Improperly dressed students should be refused admittance to schools, trustee Kenneth Leeming told Greater Victoria School Board Monday night.

He said "stern measures" should be taken against some students who were failing to follow the board's code for proper dress.

"They should be sent home and told to come back properly dressed," he said.

Mr. Leeming added that school principals should be instructed to take all necessary measures to enforce the code.

SECOND SETBACK FOR MURDER TRIAL

Three Cases Delayed By Lawyer's Illness

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

The wheels of justice ground to a halt today as Criminal Assize Court faced at least a two-week delay in hearing three important cases.

Delay was caused by sudden illness of Alan Macfarlane, defence counsel for Mrs. Alice L. Kerr, North Pender Island, charged with the gunshot slaying of her husband Albert on Aug. 10.

The trial was previously delayed due to the death of Mrs. Kerr's former counsel, Hugh Botterell.

Mr. Macfarlane took over Mr. Botterell's brief, but has been ordered into St. Joseph's Hospital for a complete rest, a member of his staff said today. He will be in hospital at least two weeks.

A hospital official said today Mr. Macfarlane's condition is "fair," and that he had a good night.

The Assize Court session is expected to last at least two weeks longer in consequence of his illness.

NOVEMBER 10

A courthouse official said it is now hoped to start the Kerr murder trial on Monday, November 10.

Another murder trial involving 16-year-old Matthew John Till will be given a preliminary hearing in RCMP court next Monday, Oct. 27, and if completed will open in Assize Court directly following the Kerr case.

Till will be charged with murdering his foster father, Charles Mudge, 38, who was beaten and shot to death at his home at 3460 Metchoin, Sept. 13.

His father-in-law John Brand also was killed and Mrs. Mudge was assaulted.

On Monday, Nov. 3, the Assize Court will hear the case of William Black, 32, of Vancouver, who is charged with attempting to utter a forged document in what police describe as a $500,000 forged income tax rebate scheme.

Black was committed for trial after a preliminary police court hearing at which uncashed cheques totalling $112,209 were entered as exhibits.

The Assize Court may be closed next week because of postponement of the Kerr trial.

AT 3 CHURCHES

Faith Healer Back Here In November

Dr. Christopher Woodard, the physician-faith healer who came to Victoria last February to see if he could help Dr. Anne Steel, will visit the city again next month.

The physician tried through prayer to cure the 38-year-old woman doctor who has been in a coma at the Royal Jubilee Hospital since May, 1956, following a riding accident at Osoyoos, B.C.

Dr. Woodard, who believes that faith and the power of prayer will cure "incurable diseases," is on a Fellowship of Christian Healing tour. He is accompanied by his wife.

THREE DAYS

He will arrive here on Nov. 7 and will speak at St. John's Church, St. Andrew's Presbyterian and First United Church during a three-day stay.

Mrs. Woodard will address a women's meeting at the Metropolitan Church on Friday, Nov. 7.

When Dr. Woodard last visited Victoria, the sick and the well clamored to hear him speak. He held daily prayers for Dr. Steel and conducted a "laying of hands" communion service in St. John's Church.

Dr. Woodard is a member of the Royal College of Surgeons, a licentiate member of the Royal College of Physicians and a fellow of the Royal Society.

After the First World War, he specialized in orthopaedic surgery and then in the soft tissue injuries of athletes, setting up an athlete's clinic which has helped many prominent sportsmen.

He believes that no illness is hopeless. Faith and prayer, he claims, can cure people where science has failed.

BEWARE if you find dynamite similar to sticks held by Saanich municipal yard foreman Harry Berthel. Police seek stick sticks from a 40-stick cache found Monday night — enough high power dynamite to toss a heavy truck across a wide street. (Times Photo.)

Dynamite Warning Sounded by Police

Saanich police canvassed five schools Tuesday after a 40-stick cache of high explosive was found by a 12-year-old boy beneath a foot bridge near McKenzie School.

No additional sticks of dynamite were located, juvenile officer Harry Adams said.

The public—school children especially—was warned today not to handle any sticks which may be found, and to report any find to police.

80 PER CENT

The dynamite, described as 80 per cent Forcite which is used normally for heavy construction blasting, was discovered by Michael Thompson, 535 Tait, as he played Monday night.

It lay partly in water and partly on the bank of a creek which runs across the foot of the 600 block McKenzie.

Dozens of children cross the bridge in both directions daily. Police were unable to account for how the explosive came to be there.

THURSDAY MEETINGS

Rotary: 12:10 p.m., Empress Hotel. Civil engineer Val Gwyther speaks on "Solution to the Problem of Fish and Power."

Oak Bay Kiwanis: 6:15 p.m., Oak Bay Beach Hotel. Film on the "Georgia Generating Station."

Capital Region Branch, Community Planning Association: 8 p.m., Business and Professional Women's clubrooms.

Sons of England Benefit Society, Alexander Lodge: 8 p.m., Williams Hall, 749 Broughton.

Recent attempts at safe cracking in the Victoria area suggested the explosive may have been part of a quantity from which safe-blowing explosive could be extracted by cracksmen.

Police emphasized their warning to children who may find more of the dynamite and save it for Halloween.

If tossed into a bonfire, for example, the explosive could be extremely dangerous.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Could you please tell me why sockeye salmon is not sold on the fresh-fish market, even at the peak of the run? R.A.

A. A spokesman for a large fishing company says fresh sockeye can be bought in stores during the season, but there is very little demand for it. "It has always been regarded as a strictly cannery operation," he said. Sockeye is perfectly good if cooked fresh, but is exceptionally suitable for canning.

Q. Where was Canada's first paper mill? S.S.T.

A. In Laculite, Quebec. It was established in 1893 and produced writing, wrapping and printing paper from rags. This was the start of the pulp and paper industry which today accounts for one dollar in eight of incomes of all Canadians.

Rev. Gaglardi on the Air

KAMLOOPS — Phil Gaglardi gets a lot of kidding about his roads and his "Sorry" signs. But nobody that I have met here faults him on his church work.

People who disagree violently with Gaglardi's politics say: "He's doing great work in this town, particularly with his Sunday school."

"He's a sincere evangelist," Doug Frizzell of Bazan Bay and I bumped into Gaglardi at supper Sunday night and he invited us over to his Calvary Temple to hear the "Fireside Hour" on the radio. The Temple is the gleaming, modernist church which was opened with such fanfare a few months ago, at a reputed cost of $150,000.

With just four minutes to air time, the breezy minister said: "C'mon down and I'll show you the basement." He pointed with pride to the Sunday school cubicles with "perimeter seating" (so that all the kids face the teacher and can't act up); the large "prayer room"; tiled kitchen and thermostatic furnace.

With a few seconds to spare, Phil was on the red-carpeted stage of his church for the "Fireside Hour." A radio-control man gave him his cue from a booth in a side wall.

Behind the pulpit, which had two microphones, was a choir of 18 voices, singing in front of a proscenium arch of inlaid wood. On one side a girl in a red nylon coat played a Hammond-type organ and at the other, a blonde youngster in evening dress played a grand piano.

It struck me as evangelical "formula" music, of the type you hear from Billy Graham and Ernest Manning—in a sense, soothing, and in a sense, hypnotic. The boys and girls (one of them a young Gaglardi) sang very well.

There was organ music behind the brief prayers and sermon of the pastor, who introduced himself simply as "P. A. Gaglardi." A major surprise, to me, was to hear the minister boom out a solo hymn, "Peace of the World," in a rich, strong voice which seemed to be a cross between tenor and baritone.

After the broadcast, Gaglard took us on a further tour, showing us the "nursery" room, behind plate glass walls, where the service may be piped in; two "crib rooms," for infants in arms; and the air-conditioned, glass-enclosed lobby "where the people mix and get acquainted."

Last Saturday morning the minister sat down and tape-recorded five, 15-minute broadcasts for use each morning through the following weeks. (He works three weeks ahead.)

On Sunday morning the attendance at his Sunday school was 926. There are a lot of "formal" churches which could profit from his way with youngsters, which combines a breezy informality with really dedicated hard work.

TAKE A LITTER

Short jump from house cleaning to street cleaning was taken by an annoyed Esquimalt woman today in a personal anti-litter campaign. Mrs. W. E. Bowen, 900 Forshaw, is shown sweeping up the mess surrounding a trash can at Forshaw and Craigflower. Litter surrounding the trash can weeks ago sparked an anti-litter campaign in Greater Victoria when photographed. But situation at the trash can remained filthy and Mrs. Bowen took broom in hand to clean up the area herself in effort to prick consciences of litter-bugs.

NEIGHBORLY NEIGHBORS AID INJURED NEIGHBOR

Gordon Rendle, who owns a 100-acre farm on Tanner Road, is in St. Joseph's Hospital recovering from an accident.

Mr. Rendle has neighbors, and tonight he is going to learn the kind of neighbors they are.

When his wife visits him, she'll be able to tell him to stop worrying about the fall plowing. It's under way, courtesy of neighbors who have provided tractors, plows and manpower.

At noon today, four rigs were churning through the soil, turning it over ready to seed for silage.

And the neighbors state they'll take care of the seeding, too.

Mr. Rendle suffered a fall July 4, dislocated his shoulder. Complications set in and he has been in hospital for five weeks.

Where, tonight, he'll undoubtedly say: "Hi, neighbor!"

Symphony Group to Ignore Sunday Concert Protests

Victoria Symphony Orchestra will go ahead with a Sunday concert next month despite opposition of the Lord's Day Alliance here.

"We have no intention of being scared off by threats," Jack Barraclough, president of the symphony society, said Tuesday.

It was a reply to a warning by Rev. A. L. Higgins, president of the Victoria Ministerial Association, that the Lord's Day Alliance will oppose a Nov. 9 concert in the Royal Theatre for which an admission price is charged.

But Mr. Higgins declined to say whether the alliance will take steps to prosecute the symphony society.

Vancouver's city prosecutor is considering asking Attorney-General Robert Bonner for a fiat to prosecute the Vancouver Symphony Society for a concert performance last Sunday to which a detective and a policeman bought tickets.

UP TO A-G

Mr. Higgins, asked if his group would request a fiat to prosecute the Victoria society, said:

"I'm just saying that we will oppose the concert. We don't enforce the act. It's not our job. Enforcement is up to the attorney-general."

He added that the Lord's Day Alliance sub-committee will hold a meeting soon but declined to say whether a request for a fiat would be discussed.

He said he had no objection to a Sunday concert if it was free.

STORES NEXT?

"But if they hold concerts for money on Sunday, what is to prevent theatres from opening on Sunday? If the theatres are allowed to do it, what is to prevent stores from opening on Sunday?"

"These are the wider implications of the symphony concert and it could lead to disrespect for the Lord's Day Act," Mr. Barraclough countered that "most people agree good music is one of the best ways to observe the Lord's Day."

He said if the Lord's Day Alliance wanted to force people into other activities on Sunday, their opposition "is the way to do it."

BACKWARD STEP

"If they try to stop the concerts, it would be a backward step and I don't think for one minute they would try to do it."

The Nov. 9 concert will feature Montreal violinist Betty Jean Hagen playing a concerto by Mendelssohn. Shostakovich's fifth symphony also will be performed.

Most of the tickets for the

Sputnik Display Early Thursday

Sputnik III and its carrier rocket will make three passes over Victoria skies Thursday morning, Dominion Astrophysical Observatory officials said today.

The satellite will arrive at 3:54 a.m., crossing from north to northeast, moderately high, and again at 5:40 a.m., when it will go from northwest to southwest, moderately high.

The carrier rocket will make a single crossing at 4:07 a.m., moderately high in the south.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Daniel La Porte, New Westminster, was fined $25 and $6.50 costs when he pleaded guilty in Colwood RCMP court Tuesday to a charge of causing a public disturbance by being drunk at Belmont Park.

Ward Five, Liberal Association will hold court whist drives each Saturday afternoon and a monthly bingo as part of a winter social program. Regular ward meetings are held on the first Thursday of each month at Liberal Headquarters, Government Street.

John R. A. Batcheller, 408 Goldstream, was fined $15 in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to having 18 bottles of beer in Beacon Hill Park.

Silver Threads Handicraft Club will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday in the CCF Hall, Courtney Street.

Plans are progressing for the annual pre-Christmas sale and tea, to be held in the Knights of Pythias Hall, Cormorant Street, Nov. 13.

Theft of a dozen pens brought a six-month jail term for a Saanich man in city police court today.

J. Scoular, 931 Inverness, was found guilty of stealing a carton of pens valued at $23.40 from Diggon's store at Government and Johnson, on Sept. 24.

Magistrate H. C. Hall noted a previous conviction for a similar offence of theft under $50 value last February, at which time "I imposed a very minor penalty" in view of a 10-year conviction-free record. "You didn't appreciate it. You just slipped back," the magistrate said.

An approaching police car flicked its headlights twice, but Sturdee E. Arden, 1233 Goldstream, didn't take the hint.

He was fined $10 in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to dim his car head-lights.

This thief made his bid for a piece of machinery a little too late to suit the owners.

Since a recent auction of heavy machinery at Crowe Gonnason lumber mill—one of the largest in local history—an electric motor valued at $100 and a compressor unit were stolen from the mill yard, police were told Tuesday.

Nick Pope, 1250 Johnson, laid his $13 on the line at a downtown beer parlor Tuesday night and bought a 1939 sedan from a companion.

When he went out to drive his new acquisition home, it was gone, police were told.

He said it had been parked at Government and Cormorant between 6 and 6:50 p.m. At 9:05 p.m. Pope told police he had located the car at the rear of 646 Gorge, the home of Gordon Bulmer, who sold Pope the car.

Police discovered Bulmer's wife, in whose name the car was registered, saw it parked on the street near the beer parlor and drove it away without knowing Pope was the new owner.

Flood of Night Business But Trickle of Protests

Eddy Mallek, proprietor of Eddy's Ltd., drew a dud when he broadcast an appeal to citizens this morning to flood City Hall with phone calls protesting the new wide-open shopping by-law.

By noon, three phone calls had been received at City Hall—one favouring the by-law and two against.

Earlier, Eddy's Douglas Street store had stayed open throughout the night in an effort to demonstrate the "ridiculous" possibilities of the new by-law.

Thousands of persons turned out for a stint of night-time shopping.

present city restrictions on store hours — does not go into effect until Thursday when council gives it final reading. The present by-law prohibits night opening after 6 p.m.

Ald. M. H. Mooney said Mr. Mallek's "big stunt was an open violation of our present law for his own benefit and I don't think he was showing good citizenship."

"But I don't think he should be prosecuted because that might make him a martyr and it's probably what he wanted."

Police Chief John Blackstock said he did not think the store would be prosecuted.

Gift Items Suggested For Friends Overseas

By PENNY SAVER

It's hardly too early to start shopping for overseas Christmas gifts. Mailing date for parcels is Nov. 22, and for cards and letters, surface mail, Nov. 25.

It's sometimes difficult to think of suitable little gifts that are easy to pack and not too heavy, so I shopped around and found a few ideas.

There's a novelty clothes brush that works on the principle of a miniature vacuum cleaner, powered by two ordinary flashlight batteries (torch batteries of course). Suction cleans the dirt right away instead of spreading it to other parts of the garment.

The brushes, at $2.50, have other uses, such as dusting, or taking crumbs off a table cloth. Handy for keeping in the pocket of the car, too!

Another useful gift item is a folding plastic hanger and clothes brush combination. Tortoiseshell plastic handles hook together to hold the hanger in place. Folded as a clothes brush, strong nylon bristles do a good job of whisking lint off clothes. Price is only $1.

For the baby in the family, there's a little music box, Canadian made, that plays soft, soothing music such as Brahms Lullaby—charming company for the little one in the nursery, to hang on the side of the crib. Price is $4.50—and they really do soothe a crying baby!

Dainty little girls love a bit of jewelry and I saw some lovely pieces at very reasonable prices. Tiny sterling silver lockets on silver chains cost $2 and up. Sterling silver bracelets, and little hair clips, sell for as low as $1. For the young master, there is a wee military hair brush with rosewood backing, that sells at $2.75.

Very reasonable at just $1 are items in a special gift display: There's a miniature address book, with index, for milady's purse; a tiny pen and pencil set; an extendable key chain and several other attractive purse accessories.

Sweater grips for cardigans would be a useful gift for a friend in England, where lack of central heating makes a sweater a must in almost all houses! These attractively designed clips, priced from $1 up, hold a cardigan neatly when it's worn casually over the shoulders.

More gift suggestions later. Meantime, if you'd like to begin your overseas gift shopping in good time, phone me at EV 2-3131 to find out where I shopped for items mentioned in today's column.

On Etiquette

Heart attack changes plans: I need help in a hurry. Two days after invitations were mailed for our wedding, my father had a heart attack while on a business trip. He is still in the hospital and mother is with him, but the doctor thinks he can be brought home soon. After several long distance calls, it was decided to go ahead with the church ceremony, but to dispense with the breakfast and reception. I can easily get in touch with those invited to the breakfast, for we had invited a very small number to it, but how can we cancel invitations to the reception? I have 10 days time.

Louise Davis answers: You won't have time to order engraved cancellations, so I suggest two alternatives. 1. Charge accounts invited

With as many assistants as you can gather, phone those on the list to say that the reception has been cancelled because of your father's illness, but that the marriage service will take place as planned. You would write brief notes at once to those living out of town, or you could send telegrams. 2. Perhaps you can get a printer to rush an order. If so, the word could go something like this: "Owing to the illness of Mr. Joseph Hopkins, the wedding reception for his daughter, Beatrice, and Mr. Charles Bruce must necessarily be cancelled, but the wedding at St. Joseph's Church will take place as originally planned."

CLUB WOMEN'S NEWS

A Success—Members of Daughters of St. George, No. 238, held a successful bazaar in the Hudson's Bay Douglas Room. District deputy, Mrs. M. Harris opened the affair and guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. I. Watson. In charge of stalls were Mrs. N. Sladden and Mrs. I. Stevenson, home cooking; Mrs. Buckingham, candy; Mrs. H. Thornber, Mrs. A. Green and Mrs. E. Mason, fancy work. Tea tables were in charge of Mrs. G. Chinn, assisted by Mrs. S. Hennis, Mrs. M. Raines, Mrs. B. Wakeford, Mrs. E. Cownden and Miss H. Currie and tickets and tombolas were handled by Mrs. R. Carness and Mrs. D. Peck.

New Officers—South Salt Spring Island Women's Institute, at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. D. Slingsby, Fulford Harbor, elected the following officers: President, Mrs. R. Lee; first vice-president, Mrs. J. Campbell; second, Mrs. Ferguson Reid; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. M. Gyves; board member, Mrs. Slingsby. Mrs. Lee presided and plans were made for two card parties, one at Fulford Coffee Bar on Nov. 1 with proceeds for the Fulford Hall fund and another for children's Christmas treats. A chicken dinner contest will be held at the first party. Meeting hostess was Mrs. H. Townsend.

Chancel Guild—Six tables of bridge were in play at a party in the parish hall at Ganges, Salt Spring Island, sponsored by St. Mark's Chancel Guild. It is planned to hold three more parties: Nov. 14, Nov. 28 and Dec. 12. Anyone wishing to participate must telephone Mrs. J. R. Sturdy at Ganges.

Funds For Hall—At a card party held recently in Fulford Coffee Bar on Salt Spring Island, a sum of $23 was raised for Fulford Hall funds. Mrs. W. Patterson and Mrs. R. Patterson were co-hostesses and 12 tables of five hundred or crib were in play. Bob Patterson

DEAR ABBY...

No Fuss—But Plenty of Bother!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We play bridge with our next door neighbors and for an evening snack we agreed not to fuss. Just to serve coffee and doughnuts. That's what I served. When we went to her house she served chicken salad sandwiches and coffee and brownies. The next time at my house I served coffee and doughnuts. When it was her turn again she served ham sandwiches, fruit salad, coffee and ice cream. I told my husband I didn't care if she served porterhouse steak, I am only going to have coffee and doughnuts. And they don't have any more money than we do. Please tell me if I am doing right?

PLAIN PEOPLE.

DEAR ABBY: If you agreed to serve only coffee and doughnuts, serve coffee and doughnuts.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is about religion. My father won't let me accept a date with a boy who is not of my own faith. I am 16 years old, Abby, but I think I have pretty good sense. I wouldn't turn away from my own religion for any boy, but how can I convince my father that just because I have a few dates with a boy of a different faith it doesn't mean I am going to marry him?

VOTED DOWN.

DEAR ABBY: As long as you feel strongly about your own religion, why tempt the fates and complicate your life? Do yourself a favor and confine your dates to boys you could marry should Cupid's dart prematurely find your heart.

DEAR ABBY: My husband works as night electrician at a hospital. A few months ago a woman who works in the laundry started to do his wash for him so he wouldn't have to bring it home for me to do it. I told my sister about it and she said, "No woman is doing a man's wash just because she likes to wash." I got mad and said I thought it was very nice of her to do it. I asked a few other friends what they thought about it and they changed the subject. My husband is 44 and most women at the hospital are much younger than he is so they wouldn't go for a man his age. He told me so. Should I make him bring his wash home or not?

WONDERING.

DEAR ABBY: A married man (age 44) should not give a co-worker the shirt off his back—even if she offers to launder it for him. Quit asking your friends and relatives what they think about it and short-circuit the connection between your hubby and the laundry lady—pronto!

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you want a collection of Abby's best letters and answers in one book, ask your bookseller to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

LABOR BODY ASKS OUSTER OF EADES

See Earlier Story Page 6
VANCOUVER (CP)—The 110,000-member B.C. Federation of Labor today voted by a ratio of 5 to 1 to demand immediate removal of J. Edwin Eades as chairman of the workmen's compensation board.

Delegates to the federation convention in Vancouver demanded his dismissal despite his plain speech Tuesday calling for an investigation of workmen's compensation.

John Squire, MLA, Port Alberni, led several delegates in opposing the resolution.

Man Convicted in Lumber Fraud Case

A 12-man Assize Court jury returned a verdict of guilty this afternoon in the case of Robert Stadler, charged with obtaining lumber from Moore Whittington Co. totalling $875 on May 26 by false pretences. He was remanded to Friday for sentence.

Provinces Appeal Phone Rate Boost

OTTAWA (CP)—Eight provincial governments today appealed to the cabinet against a new $17,000,000-a-year telephone rate increase for Ontario and Quebec.

Record $2,058 Woodbine Daily Double

ETOBICOKE, Ont. (UPI)—A $2,058.10 daily double—the largest in the history of Woodbine—was returned at the Ontario race track today.

Win Gal stepped to a $19.30 victory in the first race and Corran's Warrior won the second at $230.10 to complete the big payoff.

Hunters' Wrecked, 16-Foot Boat Found

SEATTLE (AP)—Wreckage of a 16-foot boat was found in the San Juan Islands today, indicating five members of a Seattle hunting party apparently drowned in a storm Friday night.

The Coast Guard reported a four-foot section of the bow and other wreckage was found on the east shore of Decatur Island.

Ironmongers In Backyards

This is the fifth of a series of articles by NEA correspondent John Strohm on his tour of Communist China.

By JOHN STROHM

NEW YORK—Almost everywhere you go in Red China your nostrils are assailed by a sulphurous smoke that reminds you of Gary or East Chicago.

Red China is out to make the "great leap forward" in steel production by twin programs, one old, one new.

In farmyards, on school playgrounds, college campuses and vacant lots, the belching vest-pocket blast furnaces of the old way polka-dot the landscape with smears of smoke. And those who stoke them with hand-crushed ore, coal and limestone are the farmer and his wife, the school children and college kids.

Thus did America produce pig iron in the mid-1800s on myriad "plantations" close to the land (for ore) and the forest (for charcoal). They are not new to China but the program has exploded in size.

I must have seen more than 1,000 of these furnaces during my tour of Mao's domain. They range from three feet to 30 feet high, their output from 100 pounds to 100 tons daily.

Red China's economists reasoned thusly: to save transport, take the furnace to the raw materials and only move the pig iron to the factory. The iron pigs are fed to the great new rolling mills like those I saw at Hankow and Anchan.

But Red China is by no means betting on its backyard ironmongers. At Anchan I visited a sprawling mill where 100,000 workers making an average of $32 a month turn out one-third of China's iron and steel.

They mine their own ore, get nearby coal and make pig iron, steel, iron rails, steel beams and seamless tubing.

A tiny trousered woman was jockeying one electro-magnetic crane that lifts 40 tons of steel rails and stacks them as lightly as chopsticks.

One of the chief engineers of this plant gestured with satisfaction at the smoke-plumed stacks. "The Japanese," he said, "sneered that the Chinese don't know how to run factories and will probably start growing sorghum here."

Bribe Jury To Get Case In 3 Parts

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, presiding at the Sommers bribery conspiracy trial, said today he plans to give the case to the jury in three parts.

He told counsel during a discussion of technicalities that his present plan is to give the jury the case first on the main count of conspiracy, which involves former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers, three timber executives and four companies accused.

Secondly, he said, he would ask the jury for a verdict on all of the substantive charges involving alleged donors of bribes and thirdly on all the substantive charges involving the alleged recipient—Sommers—of bribes.

Defence counsel Walter Owen, representing British Columbia Forest Products Limited and speaking for all six defence counsel, said the defence did not agree with this course.

Nor was the defence satisfied with a proposal by the judge to supply the jury with copies of the indictment, including a "working paper" on which they would record their verdicts.

"NO PRECEDENT"

Mr. Owen said the proposition was an innovation in Canada "with no precedent in British jurisprudence."

"We feel," he said, "that this is not the type of trial where innovations can be made without the possibility of prejudice to the accused."

Mr. Justice Wilson said he merely proposed to supply the working paper because it was obvious there would be a great number of verdicts. But he would be alarmed if he thought that in doing this he was supplying the jury with a new type of indictment.

At this point the jury foreman interjected that he had

Marriage Mooted For Peter

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Friends of Group Capt. Peter Townsend said today Townsend may marry pretty Belgian photographer Marie-Luce Jamagne, 19-year-old daughter of a Belgian cigarette magnate.

Rumors of a romance between Marie-Luce and Princess Margaret's former suitor flew last week when first published by the Paris weekly France-Dimanche.

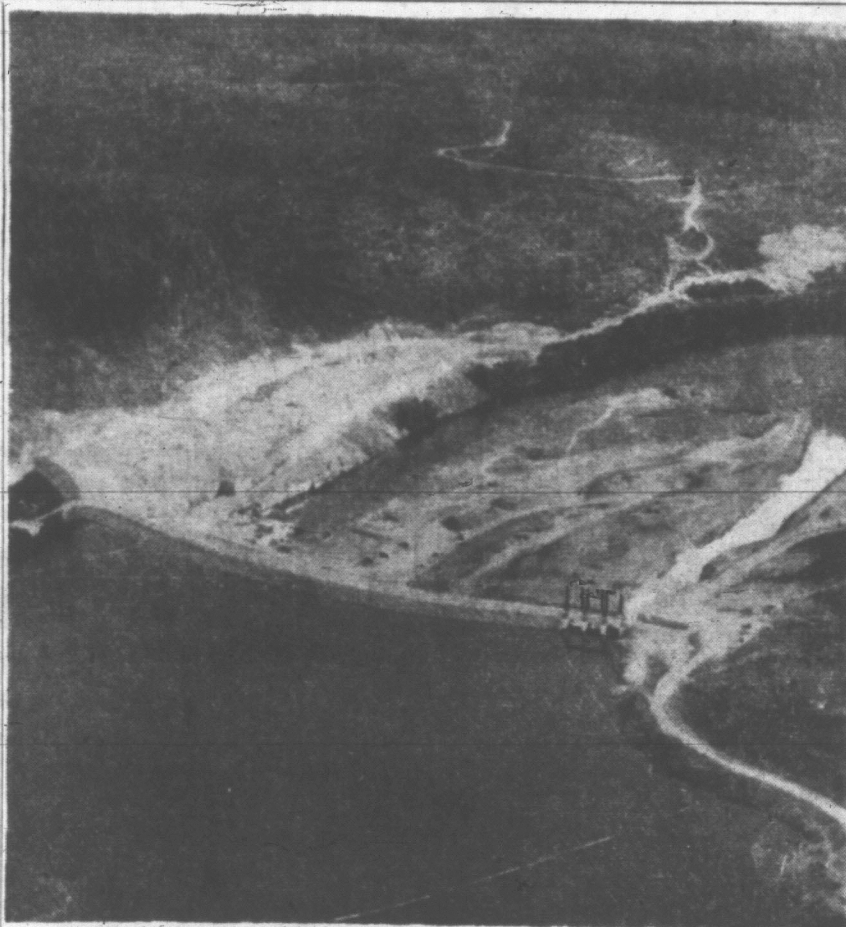

In New Delhi today, members of the documentary film unit making a movie of Townsend's world tour said they thought the couple would marry in Hong Kong.

Aerial View of $30,000,000 Strathcona Power Development

42,000HP Added By Development At Campbell Lake

CAMPBELL RIVER—Another milestone in the development of electric power for Vancouver Island's homes and industry was passed today when officials gathered here for a ceremony to mark the energizing of the Upper Campbell Lake power unit of the Strathcona Development.

It marked the end of 12 years of construction and brought into use the water of famous Buttle Lake at the head of the storage basin.

Premier Bennett pushed a button to give an official start to the flow of 42,000 horsepower from the new station into the B.C. Power Commission's Vancouver Island system, bringing the total production of power by the commission on Vancouver Island to 400,000 horsepower.

Producing units are John Hart generating station, 168,000 horsepower; Ladore, 70,000 (eventually 105,000); Somass, 35,000; Georgia gas generating station, 50,000 (eventually 100,000); Puntledge, 35,000.

Third and Final Step

The ceremony today ended the third and final step in the harnessing of the power of the Campbell River system. The Strathcona development alone cost $30,000,000.

Premier Bennett's action channeled to public usage the force of 27,000,000 cubic feet of water, penned up behind an earthen dam 170 feet high.

The entire power system was explored today by some 250 guests from all parts of the Island. Many had travelled north from Victoria with officials representing the commission, the government and the municipalities.

Following ceremonies, they were to board cars or if weather permitted, airplanes, for a low-level tour of Buttle Lake. There was to be a celebration dinner tonight at Campbell River.

The Campbell River project began with completion of the John Hart dam development in 1947. The Ladore storage dam and power station followed 10 years later.

Hanna Ordered Back to Lebanon

OTTAWA (CP)—Christian George Hanna, 24-year-old stateless stowaway granted permission to live in Canada last year, has been ordered deported by the Immigration Department, it was announced today.

An announcement by the department said the deportation order is effective as of Saturday. He will be deported to Lebanon.

The announcement, issued by Immigration Minister Fairclough said: "An order of deportation to Lebanon has been issued against George Christian Hanna to take effect Oct. 25. Mr. Hanna and his solicitors have been notified accordingly."

Hanna has had several brushes with the law since he arrived at Port Alberni, B.C., on the Norwegian freighter Gudveig in December, 1956.

He had been on the ship for 15 months after stowing away at Beirut, Lebanon, and being refused admission as an immigrant by half a dozen countries.

His latest clash with the law was in Vancouver last May when he was charged with committing an indecent act "with intent thereby to insult or offend a person." He was arrested after a 25-year-old housewife filed a complaint.

Following a hearing, he was found guilty and given a suspended sentence. He did not file an appeal.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Christian George Hanna has been taken into custody by immigration officials preparatory to deportation.

Philip W. Bird, district superintendent of immigration, said today he had received orders from Immigration Minister Fairclough in Ottawa to deport the 24-year-old "man without a country."

Asked when the department would pick Hanna up, Mr. Bird replied: "I have him now." He was believed being held in detention cells at the immigration building here.

British Airliner Hits Jet; 30 Die

NETTUNO, Italy (Reuters) — A British European Airways Viscount and an Italian jet fighter collided today, killing all 30 persons aboard the airliner.

The collision of the four-engined turboprop Viscount and the Italian air force F-86 Sabre jet took place over this little fishing port 30 miles south of Rome.

The airliner carried 25 passengers and a crew of five. The Italian fighter pilot parachuted safely.

Both the Viscount and the jet fighter crashed between Nettuno and the nearby port of Anzio where Allied forces landed in the Second World War. The Viscount had taken off from London airport at 8.25 a.m. this morning on its way to Malta by way of Naples.

The collision occurred at 1 p.m. local time. It took place in bad flying weather shortly before the Viscount was due to land in Naples.

IN WIDE ARC
Wreckage of the Viscount was found in a wide arc 10 miles southeast of Anzio. One of the first persons on the scene was an Italian army chaplain, who gave absolution to the shattered bodies.

A police official at Nettuno said that after the collision "there was a terrific explosion."

"The British airliner blew up."

TORONTO REACTS TO REEVE:

'He Must Be a Crackpot'

TORONTO (CP)—Violent reaction here has followed the statement of Victoria school trustee Richard Reeve, who said observance of Remembrance Day is "hypocrisy."

Mr. Reeve opposed his board when it approved the distribution in schools of Remembrance Day poppies. "How long are we going to perpetuate Remembrance Day?" he asked.

"Mr. Reeve is nuts," said Jim Drysdale, president of the Maple Leaf Branch of the Canadian Legion.

"Nov. 11 is the most important thing we have. It should be continued because there were countless lives lost in both wars and the only thing that will prevent another war is for people to remember those killed before."

Frank Ellis of the legion's Baron Byng branch here said: "It's outrageous." He (Reeve) should be put away somewhere. We believe in honoring the memory of our fallen comrades."

Martin Venman, president of the Baron Byng branch, said Mr. Reeve "must be a crackpot to make a statement like that."

Toronto school trustee Margaret Perney, who lost a brother in the First World War, stressed that Nov. 11 is an important day.

"This is a moving thing, something deep down in people who have had a personal contact with the wars in this way. The honor and respect we can pay those who died is little enough."

JANE BUCKINGHAM

People and Things

CHICAGO—Edward Puidk, 42, Tuesday came to terms—his wife's—and saved their marriage.

Mrs. Stephanie Puidk, 42, told Judge Thaddeus Adesko she would not sue her husband, a paper hanger, for divorce if he promised to:

Go to church every Sunday, turn over his pay to her, commit no act of mental or physical cruelty, not lose his temper, not use foul language in front of her or their two children, have more patience, permit her to have guests as often as she wishes and to be courteous to them, buy no more cars without her consent and to join her in seeing a minister if marital trouble arises.

Puidk scanned the commandments and then signed up.

ALBION, Ind.—A 32-year-old amateur magician who managed the Noble County Credit Union for 10 years surrendered on an embezzlement charge Tuesday. A source close to the investigation said a shortage of $1,500,000 may be recovered.

Arnold G. Hobbs, a 256-pound flashy dresser, posted $25,000 bond and was released for arraignment Monday.

LONDON—The House of Lords opened its carved oaken doors to women Tuesday for the first time in history.

And almost at once, the first two women installed as lifetime peeresses dismayed the assembled aristocrats. They refused to take off their hats.

They said they didn't want to mess up their hair.

Other 400-year-old traditions were swept aside as Stella Lady Reading and Barbara Wootton, now lifetime baronesses, took their seats with about 100 black-suited men in the house of "lords and ladies."

Baroness Wootton, 60-year-old socialist economist, declined as a non-believer to take the customary oath of allegiance on the Bible to the Queen. Instead, she made a solemn declaration of allegiance to the sovereign.

Clare Chubb Funeral Set For Friday

Clare Norman Chubb, 66, former manager of the Hudson's Bay Company department store here, died Tuesday at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Funeral services will be held at Sands Memorial Chapel of Chimes on Friday at 3 p.m. Rev. A. I. Higgins will officiate.

Mr. Chubb came to Victoria in 1944 and managed the company store until his retirement in January this year.

MOST TRAVELLED

Born in Guelph, Ont., Mr. Chubb was regarded as the company's most travelled executive. He made frequent buying trips to the Orient and Europe.

He was a former director of the Victoria Symphony Society and a member of the Union Club.

Mr. Chubb joined the company 30 years ago as a buyer in the Edmonton store, and later served in the Winnipeg and Vancouver stores.

He was merchandise executive at the Calgary store until 1937, when he was made manager of the company's store at Saskatoon. He took charge of the Edmonton store in 1941, remaining until his appointment to Victoria.

In Edmonton, he was well known for his activities in the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, the Red Cross Society and Community Chest.

He is survived by the widow, Clara, 3440 Upper Terrace; a son, E. C. (Ted) Chubb, Nanaimo, and daughter, Mrs. A. Nelson, Vancouver.

HE WANTED FIRE TRUCK ALL HIS OWN

NANAIMO—City council rejected an offer from George Croy of Burnaby to purchase a venerable city fire truck for $200.

He had told council it had always been his ambition to own a fire engine.

Ald. P. J. Piper said it should be preserved as part of the city's history, but Ald. Ed Blackburn, who favored seeking a higher bid on the truck, said "we've got enough relics around here now."

2-Hour Park Limit Farce

Ald. Elmer McEwen Tuesday described two-hour parking limits as a "farce intended only for those who score easily."

He made the comment as city public works committee decided against reducing all parking limits in the city to one hour until it had studied an overall traffic and parking plan to be presented next month.

"It is meaningless to have a policeman on a motorcycle with a stick marking all cars in a parking zone," said Ald. McEwen. "And it belittles his position."

Ald. Arthur Dowell and Ald. M. H. Mooney at last council meeting called for one-hour parking only. They said two-hour limits enable persons to occupy the same space all day by merely moving their cars a few feet once or twice a day.

B.C. Labor Plans Drive For Gov't Car Insurance

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 110,000-member British Columbia Federation of Labor will push its campaign for government auto insurance in B.C.

The federation's annual convention Tuesday adopted an 11-page report which declared the need for a Crown corporation to handle auto insurance "on the Saskatchewan principle."

Labor's campaign will point up "the haphazard method of the pink-slip law of B.C."

A special committee headed by Ed O'Connor of the B.C. Government Employees Association summed up its check into the Saskatchewan plan this way: "In the case of the Saskatchewan act, the principle is the insurance against the social hazards that are created by automobile accidents."

"In the case of B.C., it is insurance to protect the parties who may be involved in an accident created by an automobile owner or driver."

There are two major selling points for government auto insurance, the committee said. It appears much cheaper and, if the Saskatchewan plan is copied, compensation is paid in every case, without regard to who is at fault in an accident.

Saskatchewan government insurance offers a basic plan with collision, third-party liability, fire and theft, comprehensive, and personal injury coverage, the report said.

For those who desire more coverage, an extra premium charge brings a package policy extending bodily injury, property damage and passenger hazard liabilities.

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Motordom's New Measurement of Greatness!

The Canadian motorist has long since adopted his own personal technique for judging the year's automotive offerings.

He simply looks to the new Cadillac car to discover motordom's fullest measure of all that is new and good and wonderful.

And never before has Cadillac placed such an exacting standard on the world's motor cars as it has for 1959.

For the new "car of cars" has introduced a whole new concept of what an automobile can do and be... and how it should look and act.

To the eye alone, it is a revelation. Elegant, majestic, substantial, poised—it has brought a new magic and splendor to the world of motion.

Its Fleetwood interiors are miracles of advanced design. Appointments are beautiful beyond imagination... and its fabrics and leathers are unbelievably luxurious.

The 1959 Cadillac is equally inspiring from behind the wheel. Its spectacular new engine, its advanced transmission and its new ease of ride and handling make a journey at its wheel the most glorious distance between any two points... a truly rewarding experience.

These Cadillac advancements have been interpreted in thirteen distinctive body styles—including a new Eldorado Brougham.

So if you contemplate the purchase of any motor car in the coming year, you owe yourself an early visit with this newest of Cadillacs.

Sixty minutes in the showroom and on the highway will give you a full understanding of the new way to measure greatness in a motor car.
